hearing on March 14

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

A public hearing is scheduled for Thursday, March 14 at Village Hall at 7:30 p.m. to present a draft of the amended PUD (planned unit development) ordinance.

Bob Silhan, the petitioner in this case as well as Antioch's director of planning, zoning and building said a draft of the ordinance and proposed changes is available at the "ready reference" section of the library and at the office of the village clerk (874 Main St.).

Amended sections include the following: intent and purpose, definitions, establishment of districts, residential districts, PUD regulations and open space district.

The stated purpose is three-fold: "to establish new residential districts and open space district; to amend the PUD regulations, especially in connection with computing residential density; and to amend other related sections."

Additionally the changes are expected "to bring the zoning ordinance in closer harmony with the Comprehensive Land Use Plan."

Chiefs among the amendments being considered to the village's PUD ordinance are the definition of addition of new residential categories.

The proposed new definition of net development area is to take the

Young candidate brings energy to campaign

Scott Wold

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

"I'm young. I haven't won an office before," admits democratic candidate Scott Wold, of Lake Villa, who is one of four aspiring to take a seat on the Lake County board in District 1 currently held by incumbent candidate Judy Martini (R-Antioch).

Wold, who comes from a family of educators, graduates from Lake Forest College this spring and is currently student teaching at Stevenson. Education is high on his list of priorities.

He feels it is important to get more money into the schools and would like to see the area become more competitive with the North Shore schools.

Of the Antioch Community High School (ACHS) Dist. 117 referendum he said, "We need this to be approved. It's a necessity and not just a 'want.'" He added that he thinks it is important that all the school tax referenda in Lake County are approved.

Preserving land, including by squashing the proposed Rte. 53 expansion, is also a top on Wold's list of priorities. "I am all for the conservation of land," said Wold, who according to his mother llene, has worked for the Forest Preserve District for a couple of years. "I think expanding Rte. 53 would destroy a lot of land."

Wold has lived in the area since 1987 and said he decided to run for office because he doesn't agree with all of the views of the "current office hold-

"I don't have a lot of experience," he said. "I could bring a lot of energy and new ideas to the position.

PUD amendment public Second big box' wants gross area of a site and net out four specific items: the area within 100-year flood plain in accordance with

By JULIE MURPHY

"I think we should throw this into committee and see what's going to fit the overall concept of the village," said trustee Larry Hanson. Bradford Real Estate Services Corporation made a pitch before the committee of the whole to bring the Menards retailer into the village. This is the second discussion within one month of bringing big box retail to Antioch.

John Petersen of Bradford said, "We're here to ask for your input, thoughts and affirmation that this is something you would like to come to Antioch."

The developer wants to bring in a 160,000, square foot Menards as the anchor of a "three user center" on 47 acres just south of Silver Lake at the northwest corner of Rte. 173 and Brown Avenue. The property would have to be annexed to the village and utilities extended to the site.

This center would include a 65,000 square foot grocery store, unnamed, and a 45,000 square foot store along the lines of a Best Buy or Linen and Things.

There would be about five outlots suitable for sit-down restaurants and a financial institution. "There would be no small shops," said Petersen.

Petersen said the challenge of the site is stormwater management.

Tracy Richard an engineer with Manhardt Consulting said the site drains "almost entirely" into Silver Lake and that "Best Management" practices would be used to decrease the impact on the lake. The developer plans to bring in 5.6 acres of adjacent property to be used as a detention basin.

Later, in answering a question put forth by trustee Scott Pierce, Richard said the developer has planned for the 100-year (rainfall) event. He added that 100-foot setbacks would be maintained along the property where it abuts the ADID (advanced identification or high quality) wetlands.

If both of the proposed big box developments were to be approved, Antioch would have four grocery stores and two home improvement stores in addition to its two current hardware stores. Trustees Wayne Foresta and Barbara Porch both questioned whether the population could support all of these stores.

Petersen said that retailers wouldn't open stores if they felt they would lose money and noted that there are lots of changes going on within the grocery store industry. He said, "A better mousetrap can be used to capture the female shop-

He said a Menards typically draws from a 10-mile area, and that a grocery store's draw is usually a shorter distance but said it depends on what the competition is.

Of the two Antioch hardware stores, Petersen said, "I think the merchants will be challenged. I think they will have to change their merchandise."

Mayor Taso Maravelas said, "I think we are ripe for some retail here." Though he didn't say where he derived his figures said Antioch exports about $150 million for shopping."

Maravelas added that 750 homes are being built just north of the border and that it would be good for Antioch attract some of those shopping dollars. Trustee Dorothy Larson concurred.

As with the Wal-Mart proposal, significant financial gain is anticipated for Antioch.

Bradford calculated that under the best scenario the village would gain roughly $1 million per year in combined real and sales taxes. estate Additionally, the two school districts would see about $500,000 combined from real estate taxes.

Porch, who made the point that she is not against big box stores but wants to bring what's best for Antioch, said, "I think we should look at what we want to invite into the village instead of reacting to people who come peddling their wares, so to speak."

Though no action can be taken at a committee of the whole meeting, the board agreed to continue studying the matter as Bradford continues on with discussions with village staff.

Chamber invites residents to luncheons

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

So called "big box" stores are fast becoming the "big" topic in Antioch with discussion by village officials of a second retailer, Menards, that falls under that category.

To help educate local merchants and residents, the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry is planning two consecutive luncheons with guest speakers on both sides of the controversy. The first will be held on Tuesday, March 12 at noon at the Double Eagle located across from the Jewel on Lake St. at the intersection of routes 59 and 173.

Stan Livermore, owner of Antioch True Value, will make a presentation called "Promises vs. Reality."

Barbara Porch, executive director of the Chamber, said, "We want everyone to be as informed as possible. That is why we invited speakers to give both sides of the issue."

A Wal-Mart representative will present its side of the issue "Wal-Mart and Your Community" on Tuesday, April 2 at noon at the Double Eagle.

"The public is welcome and encouraged to attend," said Porch. "This is a very important issue at this time in Antioch."

The luncheons are $9 per person, per luncheon. Those interested in attending should call the Chamber office at 847-395-2233 to reserve space in advance.

Kathy LaBuda, director of the Antioch Public Library, is also slated to give an update on the library's expansion program at the March 12 meeting.

High school class builds houses

By JOELLEN DARFLER Special to Lakeland

Back in December, Antioch Community High School's (ACHS) JILG (Jobs for Illinois Graduates) class held a raffle that raised $1,000 for the Toys for Tots organization that collects new toys for needy children. After selling raffle tickets for a week, the outcome was higher than expected though greatly appreciated.

The class used the proceeds from the raffle to purchase $1,000 worth of new toys to donate at the holidays. Through classmate April Volkmar, an employee of Wal-Mart in Gurnee, JILG applied for, and received, a matching grant from Wal-Mart.

The class made the decision to donate the matching Wal-Mart funds to Habitat for Humanity (HFH) in Lake County, as well as its time to help construct a home.

On February 26, the class presented Jeanne Hamilton, project director of Habitat for Humanity Lake County, with the donation towards building a home.

On February 28, members of the JILG class spent the day helping construct a Habitat for Humanity home in North Chicago. This day was spent hanging dry wall primarily inside due to weather conditions.

Class members also worked putting up window trim, corner bead, and completing the bathroom. Tracy and Jenny Brady, who are working full-time at the site as members of AmeriCorp, managed the site and provided all of the on-site training for the class.

Habitat for Humanity is an organization that was started in 1976 that is dedicated to eliminating poverty housing and homelessness in the United States and around the world. It is estimated that 1.5 billion people world wide lack decent affordable housing. HFH builds internationally in countries including Hungry, Yugoslavia, Poland, the Democratic Republic of Congo, New Guinea, and India.

A chapter opened in Lake County in 1989 and helps families with incomes from $25,000-$30,000 per year afford a decent place to live. The organization sets up inter-. est free mortgages based on the cost of building the home alone not its appraised

One hundred percent of its donations go toward the building of the homes. The low cost mortgages, that average around $400 in Lake County, allow working families the opportunity to save money and have home ownership.

Additionally, before a family is allowed to move in they are required to put in five hundred hours of "sweat equity" building their own home. There are currently 57 families that are housed by HFH in the county, but that number is quickly rising.

Sarah Schroeder, a student from Antioch Community High School's JILG (Jobs for Illinois Graduates) class makes preparations to hang dry wall as part of the combined effort to support Habitat for Humanity in Lake County. The class donated not only its time, but made a cash donation to the organization.

Guidelines may require usable parks

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

"Are we not in the driver's seat?" asked planning and zoning board commissioner Frank Johnson at a workshop to discuss revisions for Antioch's Comprehensive Plan.

He went on that developers, bringing hundreds or thousands of new residents to the area, should be willing to include "improved" parks land complete with playground equipment and not just graded and seeded land. His point: parks land donations are great except that the property largely goes unused as the village has to find a way to fund improvements.

"When is the last time we (the village) received cash instead of a land donation that could be used to improve some of the park land we have?" Johnson questioned.

Bob Silhan, director of planning, zoning and building for the village answered that cash donations generally come from smaller developments that do not have excess land to donate. He also noted that Antioch has a parks department, funded as part of the village, and not a parks district that is its own taxing entity.

Commissioner Bob McCarty asked if the language could be changed to seek the donation of property "developed and equipped within parks department approval."

Donald attorney Village said, Anderson Comprehensive Plan is a guideline and such I think it's perfectly acceptable for the village to say that for a development over a certain size to encourage developed and equipped land ready to use for recreation."

Anderson stressed the use of the word "encourage" to ensure the parks department's hands were not tied into this provision if there were an instance where cash or a straight land donation would be preferred.

Other discussions included revamping the mission statement so that the plan will "preserve and improve" the character of the community and the surrounding area within the context of a growing community both residentially and commercially.

Uneck yes to vote for HS referendum

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

One of the things accomplished during a special luncheon presentation highlighting the importance of the March 19 Education Fund referendum is that those in favor of the increase need to mark the "yes" box.

Antioch Community High School Dist. 117 (ACHS) held a special luncheon for both the Antioch Lindenhurst-Lake Chambers of Commerce to detail the $.28 Education Fund referendum, and the crisis plan that will be put into effect if it is not approved.

Signs around town have created some confusion as the word yes is enclosed by a box and an empty box next to it is being marked. Some have seen that as opposite of the instruction intended.

Supt. Dennis Hockney clarified things and said that voting "yes" will approve the referendum.

"The referendum will bring positive results to the district," said Hockney. "It will double the opportunities for students in the area."

If the referendum is not approved, extracurricular activities, sports, music, summer school and theater will be eliminated from the district's program in 2004. Additionally, the building will close at 3:45 p.m. and will not be open over the weekend.

Rep. Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch) said, "You should commend the board for looking into budget cuts to keep the district fiscally sound. You don't want the state to come in and bail out your school district."

According to Hockney, what is most misunderstood is that the Educational Fund increase is not just to fund the second high school currently under construction.

"This money is for both schools." This is one district with two schools. The program we can offer will be either positively or negatively impacted for both schools depending on what happens with the referendum," Hockney said previously. He also emphasized that the referendum is not about buildings (the second building has already been funded), but about programs for the students.

Hockney made a point of noting that the increase will not show up on the tax bill until 2004, and then only $.14 of the total $.28 increase will be seen. The full increase won't be seen until 2005.

St. Peter blood drive date changed

By JULIE MURPHY Staff Reporter

"We moved our blood drive from January to March because of Sept. 11," said Sheila Dvorak, current organizer of the St. Peter blood drive. "A lot of people gave blood after that, and we thought it would be better to wait until March when fewer drives are scheduled."

This is the 43rd year St. Peter Catholic Church in Antioch has sponsored this event. The event will be held on March 23 at the church.

LifeSource, of Gurnee, is responsible for collecting the blood.

"One thing that has changed this year is that photo identification like a driver's license or a passport is required to give blood," said Dvorak. "They (LifeSource representatives) are really being sticklers about that this year."

Dvorak said last year 177 pints of blood were collected during the drive. She added, "We like to collect between 150-200 pints."

Though walk-ins are welcome, Dvorak recommends making an appointment to give blood by calling her at 847-395-1545. She said the whole procedure takes about one hour including paperwork and staying for cookies and juice after the blood is drawn.

Participants must be in good health and over 17 years old with the exception being that 16-year-olds can donate blood with parental consent. There is no upper age limit.

If one was to test anemic or have some other reason for not being able to donate blood at this time, lists of other blood drives will be available at St. Peter Church on the day of the event.

"The blood collected will stay in northern Illinois," said Dvorak.

Teens' concert to benefit 3-year-old cancer patient

eenagers are making a difference in the Lake County area. John Geib of Antioch heard about little Alec Marquez, a cancer patient, from Alec's grandfather Pastor Lou Marquez. Alec, the son of Derek and Beth Marquez of Wadsworth, has Neuroblastoma, a fast growing solid cancerous tumor that begins in nerve tissue. This disease requires expensive treatments and surgeries that insurance does not cover. Teenager John Geib contacted members of his local band and all agreed to hold a benefit concert to provide much needed financial aid for little Alec and his family.

The Music For Life benefit concert was held Saturday, Feb.16 at 6 p.m., at the old Zion Benton High School. Admission was $5 and over 100 people were in attendance. Over $700 was raised that evening for little Afec Marquez. The teenagers who gave unselfishly of their time were members of the following bands: Monday's Hero (emo music): Jay Warner, Kyle Johns, Steve Colletti; and Mike Nowak all of Antioch; Someone Else (punk rock): John Geib of Antioch, Matt Baumgart of Trevor, and Zack Denikas of Zion; Crucible (rock), a "Creed" cover band consisting of seven members (names not available) from Kenosha; and Lilakate James of Antioch (country/ folk) sang and played her guitar.

Thanks go to many local businesses for their donations for concession stands, food for the workers, and prizes. Businesses that contributed are as follows: Jewel in Antioch for concessions, Big Apple Bagels in Antioch for bagels, DND Ultimate Pizza in Antioch for pizzas, First National Bank of Antioch for popcorn and the use of their popcorn machine, Antioch Napa for a miniature stuffed Napa truck, Zap in Kenosha for laser tag tickets, Promise Land in Wilmot for paint ball tickets, Faith Assembly of God in Zion for use of their sound equipment, Sam's

The concert could not have taken place without the help of many parents and friends of the band members who volunteered their time manning concession stands, sound board, ticket sales, security, and backstage. Special thanks go to the emcees for the concert Josh Thayer of Trevor and Pam Poliere of Kenosha. Special thanks also go to Debbie Geib of Antioch for obtaining donations for concessions and prizes as well as rounding up many volunteers.

The guest of honor little Alec Marquez was present at the concert with his parents Derek and Beth Marquez and grandparents Pastor Lou and Sandy Marquez of Zion. Little Alec loved the concert and especially enjoyed the little Napa truck presented to him. Donations are being accepted for the trust fund for Alec M. Marquez at Consumers Cooperative Credit Union in Waukegan.

Music For Life (a non-profit organization founded by the band Someone Else) was established to help cancer patients or others with special financial needs in the Antioch area and surrounding communities. For further information please contact John Geib at (847) 395-0456.

DUI/illegal transportation of alcohol

Gary M. Tatum, 43, of 25374 W. Monaville, Lake Villa, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol and for the illegal transportation of alcohol on Feb. 24 at 6:31 p.m. on Lake St. at Spafford.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on Tatum's breath as driver's license and proof of insurance were requested.

Tatum failed all field sobriety tests requested of him. He was arrested and secured in the back of the squad car. During the inventory for tow, the officer found an open 12-pack with three full cans, one crushed can and one open can with evidence that it had spilled.

Tatum was transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was issued citations for driving without headlights and DUI. He refused chemical testing and was issued an additional citation for the illegal transportation of alcohol.

Tatum was put through booking procedures and released on a recognizance bond pending his March 19 court date.

Warrant arrest

Charles D. Haygood, 22, of 2923 Gabriel St., Zion, was arrested on warrant and arrested for driving while suspended on March 1 at 1:06 a.m. on Rte. 173 at Hillside.

Haygood was stopped for having only one headlight illuminated. A check of his identifiers through LEADS/SOS came back with information that his license was suspended and that he was wanted on an active Lake County warrant for domestic battery carrying $10,000 bond.

Haygood was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was issued citations for improper lighting and driving while suspended. He was released on personal recognizance for those charges and then transported to the Lake County Jail for the active warrant.

No valid driver's license

Adam J. Olszewski, 23, of 10409 69th St., Kenosha, was arrested for improper use of registration and for driving with no valid driver's license on Feb. 28 at 7:17 p.m. on North Ave. at Parkway.

Police saw a vehicle traveling with only one taillight. As the officer approached he saw the registration to be an Illinois dealer plate that had expired in 1999.

Olszewski told the officer he had neither a driver's license nor proof of insurance. He said the plate was from a dealership where he used to work and that the vehicle wasn't registered in Illinois or Wisconsin.

A check through LEADS/NCIC/SOS confirmed that Olszewski's Wisconsin driver's license was revoked and that he had no valid Illinois driver's license. The vehicle VIN number was also checked and came back "no record on file."

Olszewski was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for one red taillight, operation of vehicle with expired registration plates, improper use of registration, operating an uninsured vehicle and driving with no valid driver's license. He was released on recognizance pending his March 27 court date.

Suspended

James Vincent Kehoe, 25, of 332 Bridgewood, Antioch, was arrested for driving with a suspended driver's license on March 2 at 7:52 p.m. on Main St. at Depot.

Police saw Kehoe, known through prior contacts to be suspended, and stopped him as he pulled into Bernie's Citgo. The suspension was confirmed through LEADS/NCIC.

Kehoe was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was issued a citation for driving while suspended. He was released on personal recognizance pending his March 27 court date.

Dawn V. Ryan, 41, of 897 Tiffany Farms Rd., Antioch, was arrested for driving while suspended on March 1 at 2:10 p.m. on Rte. 83 at Williams.

Police saw her vehicle to have a cracked windshield and an object hanging from the rearview mirror obstructing her view.

Ryan told police she did not have her driver's license, but did provide a valid insurance card. A check of her identifiers through LEADS/NCIC/SOS came back with information that her license was both suspended and cancelled.

She was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where she was put through booking procedures and issued citations for a defective windshield, obstructed windshield and driving with a suspended driver's license. Ryan was released on personal recognizance pending her March 27 court date.

Craig A. Faust, 27, of 770 Highview Court, Antioch, was arrested for driving while suspended on Feb. 27 at 5:54 p.m. on Toft St. at Orchard.

Police saw him fail to yield at a stop sign. Faust's identifiers were checked through LEADS/NCIC with information coming back that his driver's license was suspended.

LAKE VILLA

Burglary

Edwin Arroyo Jr., 17, of 4832 W. Melrose, Chicago, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Feb. 27, at 6:52 a.m. while driving westbound on Grand Avenue at McKinley. A random license plate check showed the 1989 Chevrolet Cavalier was bearing plates from a 1992 ford. The driver had no valid license. The 16-year-old passenger said it was his aunt's car, but that she did not know it was taken.

An inventory of the car turned up automotive tools, a cell phone and a broken marijuana pipe. Police believed the tools and phone were stolen. Both the driver and the passenger had been arrested 11 days earlier for burglary.

The 16-year-old youth said the pair had taken the car, and left Chicago. Having no money, they entered unlocked cars parked in an apartment lot.

The tools were found to belong to a member of the Waukegan Police Department. They were valued at about $400.

The juvenile was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Both young men were charged with two counts of burglary. In addition, Arroyo was charged with improper use of registration, no registration, no valid driver's license and driving an uninsured vehicle.

The 16-year-old passenger was released to his mother's custody, while Arroyo was remanded to the Lake County Jail with a $10,000 bond.

Dog found

Lake Villa Police report a dog was found on Feb. 27 at 7:20 p.m. on Monaville Road near Cedar Lake road. The dog is a female collie mix, about 4-6 months old. The dog was wearing a blue collar, but no tags. It was turned over to animal control.

Police observed the driver going 33 mph in a 20-mph zone, crossing the double yellow line and drifting in his lane. After police turned on their emergency lights, the driver continued on for two blocks. He told police he wanted to get home, but the address where he stopped was a block from his home. He failed field sobriety tests, and blew .159 BAC o a breath test. He was charged with improper lane usage, expired registration sticker, speeding, failure to yield to an emergency vehicle, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. He was released on $3,000 bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on March 19, at 9 a.m.

Warrant

Steven A. Serbo, 35, of 1047 Herman, Spring Grove, was served with an arrest warrant by Lindenhurst Police on Feb. 24, at 9:29 p.m. The warrant was for failure to appear on a charge of driving with a revoked license. He was turned over to the Lake County Jail, to appear on Feb. 25 at 9 a.m. in courtroom C-120.

Property damage

A mailbox post on the 400 block of Surrey Lane, Lindenhurst, was reported cracked by an unknown person. The damage occurred between 6 p.m. on March 1 and 8 a.m. on March 2. Lindenhurst Police are to investigate whether the damage might have been done by village snowplows. The damage was estimated at $50.

A resident on the 300 block of Granada Blvd. complained to Lindenhurst Police that a snowplow contracted to clear the lot at the Lindenhurst Early Childhood Center was pushing snow across his property line, and damaging landscape and grass. The resident estimated the damage at about $200. The snowplow operator, when contacted, told police he would arrange to fix the damage. Police determined there was no criminal damage involved, and that the dispute was a civil matter.

Accidents in snow

Two car accidents occurred in Lindenhurst, in the early hours of March 2, while road conditions were slippery.

At 5:48 a.m., at Grass Lake Road, about 100 feet west of Great Oak Lane, a 20-year-old Waukegan woman, driving westbound, attempted to brake, and slid into eastbound traffic. A 45-year-old Lake Villa man attempted to avoid her, but was struck and forced off the road into a ditch. No one was seriously injured.

At 6:27 a.m., on the same day, on Rolling Ridge Lane, 25 feet east of Brook Lane, a 23-year-old man from Bristol, Wis., attempted to drive a snowplow from Brook onto Rolling Ridge. His brakes locked, and he hit a vehicle driven by a 24-year-old Lindenhurst man. The car was parked on the north side of the road, waiting for the snowplow to complete its turn. There was no damage to the plow, but there was some paint transfer and small dents on the second vehicle. There were no serious injuries reported

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Martini breaking trails

Judy Martini is up for re-election and I hope you will all consider her many accomblishments for Lake County.

I have worked closely with Mrs. Martini on the trailer park issue. The 26 RV parks that are in an eight mile radius in Antioch Township. Mrs. Martini was instrumental in updat-

Mrs. Martini was instrumental in updating the RV Park Ordinances. We will all start soon to see many changes. Changes that will benefit all of us.

As of the 1976, RV Trailer Parks could only be developed with 20 acres of land. Most of these RV parks came into existence after Lake County adopted the 1976 ordinance book. Now we have new ordinance that have been adopted and we need Judy martini on board to make sure these New Ordinances are finally followed. I have loved her since 1973 and my taxes keep going up, up, and UP. Are we all paying the RV park freight here?

Some argue that these trailers promote tourism to our area and help businesses. Who's business? Is this the type of tourism that we the residents want for this area? Is the pollution to our Lakes worth it? Would it make more sense to build hotels for these people? With a hotel we would not have to worry about year-round residency of these trailers burdening our schools.

Mrs. William Thomas Hiller Antioch

Fights for right The March 19 prim

The March 19 primary is almost upon us.

I hope to emphasize the importance that your vote will make for YOUR current Lake County board member Judy Martini. I've had the opportunity to work on an important issue concerning the updating of the existing Recreational Vehicle Park Ordinance.

These revisions promote a better co-existence with the marinas, parks and neighborhoods.

They promote the health safety and welfare of our neighborhoods and encourage the preservation of our natural resources and lakes that surround us. The County Board unanimously approved to update the ordinances and gave the parks a generous three years to complete any improvements and to abide by the ordinances, when and wherever possible. However, some of the marinas/RV Parks still feel ordinances that are over 26 years old, do not need any adjustments or improvements. Some have taken this to court and the judge has already thrown out four of the five objections so far.

These RV parks are furiously fighting to discredit Judy and are backing another candidate. Judy fights for what is right. She is currently the vice president of the Lake County Board and actively serves on several committees. She has worked on 18 governmental committees and has the experience of 11 years as an elected official.

I observed Judy on several of these committees and saw the respect from her colleagues and witnessed her professional ability to address many issues on our behalf. She strongly believes in the preservation of our land, natural resources and our lakes.

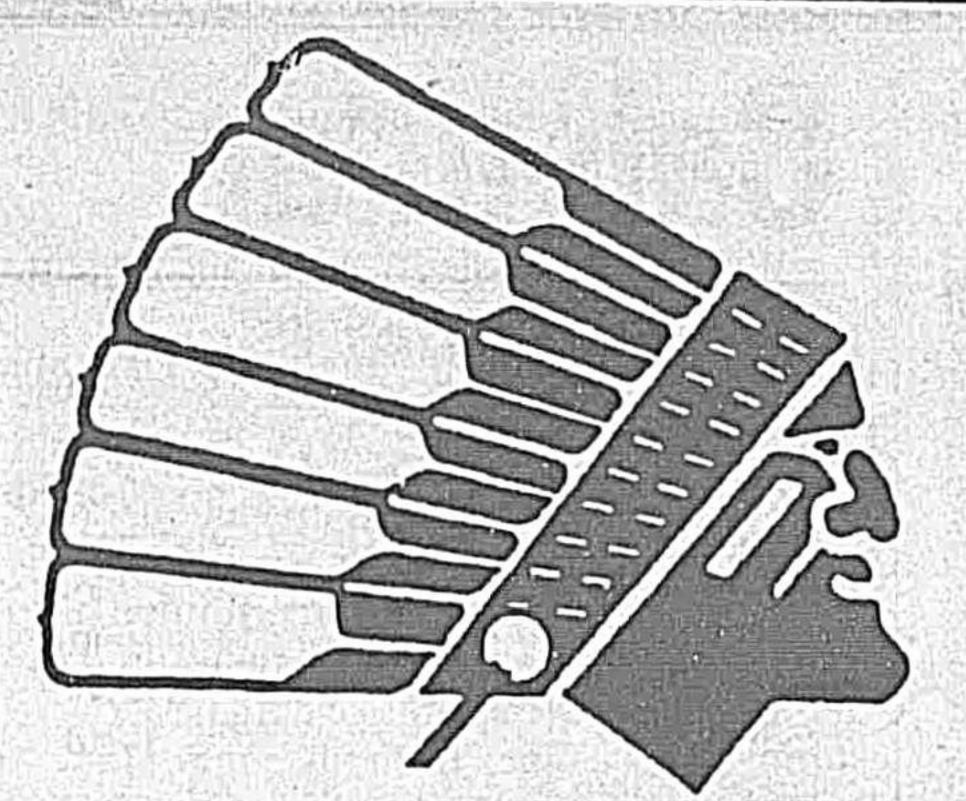

She has fought for our veterans rights and the VA Hospital. Is working on a solution to our transportation problems. Fights overdevelopment that will impact our roads and crowded schools. She is working to bring more tax dollars back to Lake County, and believes in keeping Lake County economically strong. Supportive services are being emphasized for our seniors and the uninsured.

minimum lot width.

No PUDs or density transfers would be allowed on any of the rural estate residential districts.

Two new suburban estate (SE) districts have been proposed: SE-1 and SE-2. In both of these categories, PUDs would be allowed.

The first requires one-half acre lots and a minimum lot width of 100 feet that can be altered by 15 percent in a PUD. The second would require a minimum lot width of 18,000 square feet and a minimum lot width of 90 feet that could also be altered by 15 percent in a PUD.

Some of the other proposed amendments to the ordinance are as follows: a 15 percent maximum variation in lot area and lot width; a five-year time frame from approved preliminary to final plat for unit one; to omit the section on attached dwelling units in its entirety; and to require 25 percent open space for PUDs of 200 acres (as opposed to 600 acres) or hat is one of society's best kept secrets?

Many police officers would say domestic violence.

Plenty of social workers would say child or sexual abuse.

However, there is a group of people in this area that have their own opinion.

According to Sadie Husko, president of Literacy Volunteers of Lake County, Inc.— the best kept secret is illiteracy.

"We have 31,000 adults in Lake County that do not read above the sixth grade level," said Husko. "That is a hidden reality that no one is comfortable talking about."

She said many children are at risk for illiteracy because their parents do not know how to read and can't help them at home.

Husko, along with many others, is on a mission to inform the public about this problem and to help adults either learn how to read or learn how to read better.

The Literacy Volunteers of Lake County are in partnership with the College of Lake County and the Waukegan Public Library.

The three separate groups make up the Lake County Adult Learning Connection.

Story by Jeff Zachary Photos by David Krueger

According to Paula Phipps, coordinator of literacy at the College of Lake County, the Lake County Adult Learning Connection welcomes adults who want to improve their reading and writing skills. The adult students are often those who didn't go to school, or, if they did, did not receive the type of instruction they needed.

"In this culture, there is a tragic misconception that people who read and write well are smarter than those who don't," said Phipps.
"Very often, this belief is internalized by adults and causes a shame-based reality."

She added, "As adult students learn, there is an incredible sense of self that blossoms. Years of negative tapes (playing in their heads) about being stupid get erased and are replaced by positive tapes about a group, in a classroom and/or with each other.

The setting may be the neighborhood library, a local church or an off-campus classroom, sponsored by the College of Lake County.

Speakers of other languages, who want to speak, read and write English are also welcomed by the Lake County Adult Learning Connection.

Learners work in small groups. Primarily in a family literacy setting, with tutors and staff. Children are welcomed through a partnering with Headstart called Parents as Reading Partners.

Several area libraries, with college and staff support, also provide programs for parents and children.

The new Adult Learning and Technology Center is another place for students, tutors and staff to gather.

The computer lab at the center is a place of study. User-friendly software welcomes adult new readers and persons working to obtain their GED.

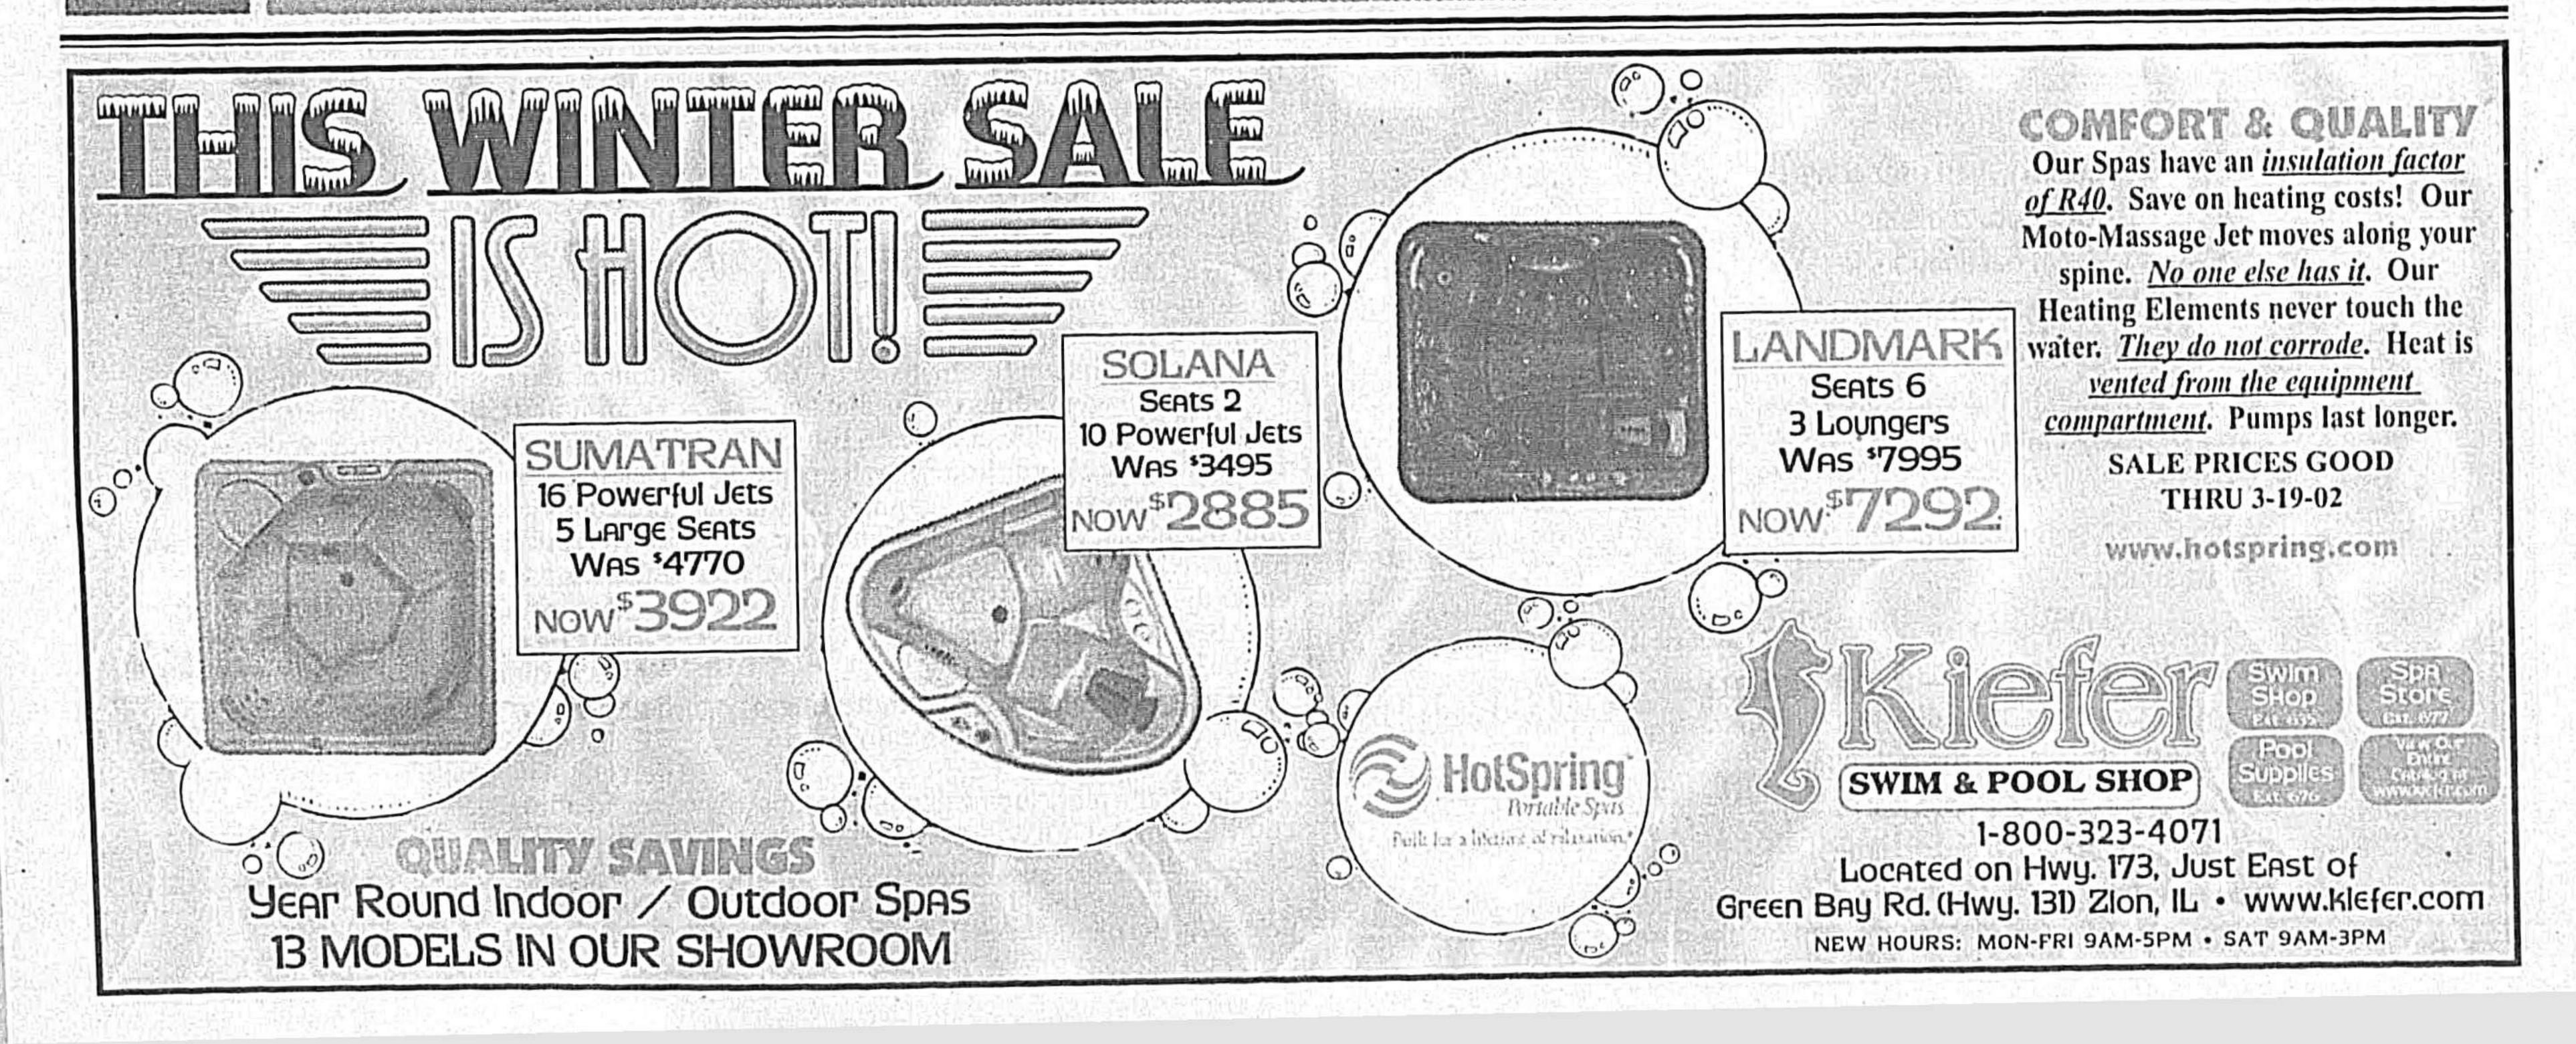

The heartbeat of the Lake County Adult Learning Connection is the trained volunteers, who work one-to-one, in small groups and classrooms. They make it possible to reach approximately 500 students each year.

"We are always looking for more volunteers," said Husko.

Carol Morris, of the Waukegan Public Library, said, "Unemployed people frequently lack good basic reading and writing skills." It is her belief that unemployment would be cut down if more adults would learn to read.

The mission of the Lake County Adult Learning Connection is to extend educational opportunities to Lake County adults to assist them in developing their basic skills in reading, writing and mathematics.

According to statistics compiled by Morris, there are 44 million Americans over age 16 who are functionally illiterate. This means they may be unable to read street signs, written instructions, labels, job applications or stories to their children.

In Illinois, more than 2 million people cannot read at a sixth grade level. In Lake County that number is estimated at 31,000.

In encouraging adults to take that first step on their way to literacy, Husko commented, "Non-readers come from all walks of life and from every cultural background. They are your neighbors, your co-workers and your friends. Help them to get started by calling either the Waukegan Public Library at 847-623-9261 or the College of Lake County at 847-543-2024."

If anyone is interested in volunteering their time to help other adults learn how to read, call Sadie Husko at 847-837-1354.

One of the more interesting sub-groups to come out of the Lake County Adult Learning Connection is the Lakehurst Players.

They are a group of improvisational actors. All the members are adult students who do skits of what it is like to be in the world of the non-reader.

One skit shows a man picking out a getwell card when he really wanted a Mother's Day card.

Another skit shows how hard it is to get a job when you can't read the application form. Amazingly these non-readers have designed many coping mechanisms like having family or friends fill out applications or getting someone else to read forms by claiming they left their glasses at home.

The Lakehurst Players even have made their own videotape called "A Different Kind of Smart."

The Lake County Adult Learning Connection is supported by Illinois Community College, Illinois Secretary of State, United Way of Lake County, Wallace-Reader's Digest Funds, and private foundations, donations and fund-raisers.

It is an affiliate of Literacy Volunteers of America.

According to statistics from this organization, the cost of adult illiteracy to businesses and taxpayers is estimated at $20 billion per year.

Sixty percent of prison inmates and 85 percent of all juvenile offenders have problems reading.

In the Literacy Volunteers of America Network in Illinois, there are more than 7,000 volunteers helping 8,500 adults learn to read.

Wild Ones' offers garden design program

Monday, March 11 at 7:15 p.m., Lake-to-Prairie Wild Ones will present Karma Groteluseschen in the third of a four-part series of programs designed to help gardeners create their own dream gardens at a reasonable price. She will take the audience through the process involved in preparing a successful natural garden and will address the special problems inherent to prairie, woodland, and wetland properties. Karma will discuss how to read the land and understand its relationship with light, soil, and moisture as well as proper installation and maintenance. Part of her talk will be pertinent to goal-setting and reconciling conflicts within the gardeners' goals. They will include a discussion of the sacrifices necessary for the convertion of a property to "pure" native plants while enhancing the look with such outdoor decor as benches, gazebos and pergolas. Color slides and handouts will be part of the presentation.

Karma is a freelance designer who works with homeowners and business owners. She likes the challenge of helping people overcome "what design problems are inherent in landscaping a prairie or woodland garden."

Membership is $30 annually and includes a bimonthly native plants news magazine, participation in plant rescues and an annual seed exchange. Attendees will have the opportunity to join at each program.

The Ultimate Sacrifice

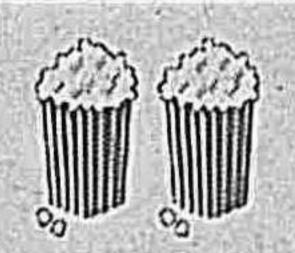

att (Josh Hartnett), dumped by his girl-friend Nicole (Vinessa Shaw), finds his remedy for the situation is to score with every woman who turns him on in the slightest. He is keeping score and is willing to confess his sexual triumphs when he talks to a priest, who happens to be his brother. Oddly enough, Matt is not as happy as he thought he'd be, and the brothers' discussion on Lent, and how its practice of sacrifice and self-denial can lead to growth, prompts Matt's decision on how he should handle his sexual depression. For a period of 40 days and 40 nights, he will not have sex or even fool around...nil, nada.

Matt's roommate Ryan (Paulo Costanzo) thinks this is impossible, and before long, a betting pool that rivals the Super Bowl has been set up at work in which the choice is the day that Matt gives in to his sexual desires. The farcical tone of the film is captured by a blue light inspection of Matt's bed sheets to determine the presence of any seminal fluids.

Matt seems to be on track to achieving his vow of chastity until he meets another lonely soul, Erica (Shannyn Sossamon), in the local laundromat. She wonders if something is wrong with her because of Matt's reluctance to take things beyond just a teasing relationship. Later she learns of Nicole being at the root of this bizarre behavior and it's no surprise when the two woman eventually pass in the hallway going to and from Matt's apartment. . The mentality of the men in "40 Days" is along the line of Jack Black in "Shallow Hal." Where many teen comedies have flatulence as the core of much of the humor, this young adult comedy finds that being in a state of a permanent erection is man's ultimate achievement.

I found myself chuckling during many parts of the film even though it never really struck me as being laugh-out-loud funny. Although the premise of the story is somewhat silly, I saw numerous opportunities for it to play out with more humor and deeper insight about relationships. While there was humor, anything to do with a meaningful introspection of dating was at best superficial. What we got was a fashion show of attractive young men and women, out to do what most twenty-somethings do—party hearty.

There's not a whole lot bad to say about the movie—it's just that there's not a lot of good to say about it either. If your idea of a good romantic comedy is one that touches your heart, you'll be more interested in "Serendipity" or "Kate and Leopold." However, if your funny bone is tickled by the likes of "American Pie" and "Not Another Teen Movie," this might be just what you are looking for.

George and Pam Singleton are Lake Villa residents who love the movies. Full Reviews can be found on their web site at www.reelmoviecritic.com. For films currently playing at your local theater, visit us at Current Movie Reviews.

Travel on the Lewis & Clark Trail

he Illinois State Museum will present the exhibition "Kenneth Holder: Painting from the Lewis and Clark Trail," through April 14. This exhibit of acrylic and water-color paintings follows the trail of Lewis and Clark from the Missouri River to the Pacific Ocean.

In the spring of 1996, having just read
Stephen Ambrose's "Undaunted
Courage," Bloomington artist
Kenneth Holder and his wife Jan set out to retrace the steps of Lewis and Clark's
historic journey.
Holder's research on the subject led him to the conclusion that while many other artists had documented various parts of Lewis and Clark's Trail, as far as he knew, no other painter had tried to interpret the entire route. His goal was to paint views from the trail interpreting the

The paintings were completed in three phases. The first phase comprises sketchbook watercolors numbering over 300. The sketchbooks are, in a sense, the field notes for the larger painting that then become explorations of different formats and spatial relationships derived from landscape as it is today.

landscape forms. Next are eight large-scale watercolors of sites the artist found exceptionally interesting. The final phase is 75 large acrylic paintings made after completing the sketches and watercolors. These paintings range in shape and format from 1-foot squares to panoramas, diamonds, circles, and more eccentric multicanvas paintings in sizes up to 24 feet. The Illinois State Museum exhibition will include the largest number of paintings from Holder's Lewis and Clark Trail project exhibited together on one time.

The Illinois State
museum in located at the corner of Spring and Edwards streets in Springfield. The Museum Society's not-for-profit shop features books, gifts, educational toys, as well as the work of nearly 300 juried Illinois artisans.
Museum and shop hours are 8:30 a.m.-5 p.m.
Monday through Saturday, and noon-5 p.m.
Sunday.

The Museum is closed on Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's Day and Easter. Admission is free. Parking is available nearby, and the building is accessible to individuals with disabilities.

No Rights! A lesson in America's past

alking up to the Wheaton History Center, one could never guess the discoveries that wait inside. Clothed in a rough cotton calico dress, an interpreter welcomes visitors into a recreated slave cabin, only 12 by 16 feet. Cold air filters through the log walls of the dimly lit, sparse room. Visitors are surprised to learn that as many as 15 enslaved Africans could have called this dreary place home.

As the tour continues, the space grows considerably smaller. The interpreter, Kristi Nolberto's rich voice fills the room, passionately telling of the daily trails of being an enslaved person. Songs laden with emotion reveal the hidden codes and messages used by fugitive slaves and those who assisted them in their flight to freedom on the Underground Railroad.

In this rare Chicagoland exhibit, "No Rights! The Injustices of Slavery," the Wheaton History Center takes an innovative approach to provide a vivid portrayal of slavery. The program combines first and third person interpretation along with role-playing into a powerful lesson in America's past. Visitors travel back in time to an era of bondage where laws created an atmosphere of injustice and the Abolitionist movement thrived.

Nolberto's portrayal of an enslaved person is remarkable. Role-playing in this dynamic program allows the visitor to experience the unfair treatment beginning with the passage from Africa. Physical abuse was not the worst kind of punishment—rather separation from one's family was the most feared. Standing on the auction block, waiting to be sold, was a humiliating and frightening reality.

Hearing the brave stories of escaped slaves such as William and Ellen Craft and Harriet Jacobs brings to light the harsh conditions of the enslaved. The activities of Illinois abolitionists subjected their families to in order to help fugitive slaves reach freedom.

Authentic slave documents, shackles and neck collars and the dark interior of a recreated shipping crate used by Henry "Box" Brown, bring a sharp reality to the program.

The Wheaton History Center, located at 606 N. Main St. in Wheaton, is open Monday through Wednesday and Saturday 10 a.m.- 4 p.m. Admission to the museum is $1 for seniors & students, $2 adults, and $5 for families. For more information call the center at 630-682-9472.

Sundance winner to be presented

Film Festival, "Songcatcher" will be presented at the College of Lake County on Friday, March 8, as part of an independent film series. Director Maggie Greenwald explores the origins of rock, bluegrass, folk and country music in America by taking the audience on an exhilarating adventure across a part of America still rarely seen. Instructor Robert Coscarelli will host the presentation in conjunction with his humanities course, Film and Society.

After being denied a promotion at the university where she teaches, Doctor Lily Penleric, a brilliant musicologist, impulsively visits her sister, who runs a struggling rural school in Appalachia. There she stumbles upon the discovery of her life—a treasure trove of ancient Scot-Irish ballads, songs that have been handed down from generation to generation, preserved by the seclusion of the mountains.

Lily ventures into the most isolated areas of the mountains to collect the songs and finds herself increasingly enchanted—not only by the rugged purity of the music, but also by the raw courage and endurance of the local people as they carve out meaningful lives against the harshest conditions.

The film will be shown at 7 p.m. in Room D100 at the College of Lake County Grayslake Campus. The event is free and open to the public. "Songcatcher" is rated PG-13. For information about the film series, call 847-543-2623.

Legends of the 'Selkie' revealed | Porchlight plays 'Children of Eden'

hicago Playworks for Families and Young Audiences presents "Selkie" by Laurie Brooks Gollobin, playing at DePaul University's Merle Reskin Theatre, 60 E. Balbo Drive in Chicago, now through March 16. Performances are Tuesday and Thursdays at 10 a.m. and Saturdays at 2 p.m. Please note there will be no performances on Feb. 2, 9, 12, 19 and March 5.

This gorgeous tale is based on the myth of the selkies, the beautiful seals who shed their skins to take human form. Ellen Jean knew she was different than the lads and lasses she grew up with on the bank of the rugged Orkney Islands. One magical midsummer's eve, she learns the truth about her family and finds out where she truly belongs. Written with the poetic lilt and sounds of the sea, the wind and the haunting cries of the seals, this mystical legend will mesmerize. The production is recommended for age 8 and up.

Tickets are $8. Seniors (over 60), Corporate Partners, DePaul employees and alumni, college students and children 18 months and younger receive a discount. Group rates are available for groups of 15 or more. For information and to purchase tickets, call 312-922-1999.

orchlight Theatre, one of Chicago's most critically-hailed and rapidly growing mid-sized theatre companies, will present "Children of Eden," Stephen Schwartz's humorous and heartwarming musical adaptation of the Book of Genesis, March 9-May 5 at the Theatre Building, 1225 W. Belmont in Chicago.

"Children of Eden" is a funny and touching adaptation of the first nine chapters of the Book of Genesis, including the creation of the Universe, the story of Adam and Eve and their sons Cain and Abel, then moving on to chronicle Noah and the great flood. With more than 20 songs, the score is a rousing pastiche of musical genres, including pop, gospel, ballads, 1940s style harmony and traditional musical theatre songs.

Composer and lyricist Stephen Schwartz's ("Godspell," "Pocahontas") developed. "Children of Eden" with playwright John Caird in 1991 for its London premiere. Despite favorable reviews, the production failed to find an audience, perhaps due to uneasiness caused by the war in Iraq. The production has since been refined and is now frequently produced by theaters around the U.S.

Shows times are Fridays and Saturdays at 8:15 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m. For more information, call 773-327-5252.

'Incognito' a passionate journey of self-discovery

ountless children have grown up not knowing their birth parents. Actor Michael Fosberg was among them, but as an adult he decided it was important fill in this missing piece in his life and learn more about the biological father he never knew.

'Incognito," now being staged at Apple Tree Theatre in Highland Park after a successful run in Chicago at Bailiwick Repertory Theater, is Fosberg's stirring account of that quest, presented through March 17. In this unique one-man drama, directed by Michael E. Myers, Fosberg plays himself and a multitude of other roles, including his mother, father, grandparents and girlfriend.

On the rear of the stage stand a series of maps, highlighting Santa Monica to Martha's Vineyard. As Fosberg sits at a desk and types on his laptop computer, titles and key words appear on a large screen. Raised among Armenian relatives in Waukegan, Ill., he's now living on the West Coast; his sister passes along the upsetting news that after a long marriage his mother and stepfather are divorcing.

It comes as a shock, since his reserved, tight-lipped mother never even hinted at a break. Isolated and angry, Fosberg finds the idea of learning more about his natural father, John Sidney Woods, becoming an obsession. At the library, he pours through a Detroit phonebook and, as luck would have it, he hits pay dirt with the first of several listings. The reunion over the phone is at first awkward but then shocking: Fosberg learns that his father is an African-American – a secret his mother had kept to herself for more than 30 years. As Fosberg observes, his mind is on overload, trying to absorb the information and emotions of the news.

In Act II, Fosberg jubilantly seals a bond with his long-lost relatives, reunites with his mother and celebrates his cultural diversity. He scoffs at being racially slotted on the census form: "Do I need a box to fit in? There's not a box big enough!"...

Two Habitat for Humanity chapters benefit from law school assistance

build homes but also use their real estate knowledge to the benefit of those in the community.

The John Marshall Law School has become the fourth law school in the country, and the only law school in the Midwest, to be accepted for a campus chapter of the international organization, Habitat for Humanity. The chapter will be different from others under the Habitat umbrella because it will have a three-pronged approach: building, education and fundraising.

The John Marshall chapter will provide community education information on issues of interest to new property owners such as avoiding predatory loans, obtaining adequate insurance and understanding the house closing process. In addition, the group will help the Chicago Habitat affiliates with legal assistance.

The Lake County chapter of Habitat for Humanity is now one of the top 40 affiliates in the country, and the largest of the 13 chapters in the Chicago metropolitan area. Since it was organized in 1989, the Lake County chapter has constructed nearly 60 single-family homes. Habitat for Humanity, with 1,600 affiliates in the United States, was founded by former President Jimmy Carter, as a nonprofit, nondenominational Christian housing organization that helps low-income people through building affordable housing. The houses are sold at no profit, with no interest charged on the mortgage, and are built by volunteers and homeowners.

hil Judson enjoyed his vantage point from the first row in the final game at Northern Illinois University's Chick Evans Fieldhouse.

Judson may have cast a few more glances than most at the NIU bench. The former Hebron star of the storied 1952 championship season was watching his son, Rob, the new head man at NIU.

"Give him time, he will do just fine," said Phil Judson.

The Huskies pulled out the final game at the "Dog pound", located at Lucinda Avenue and Annie Glidden Road, where they had won 70 percent of their home games since 1957.

Phil helped Hebron's magical 11-game tournament run in 1952.

The team, with its state championship win over Quincy at the University of Illinois' packed Huff Gym, will also be honored at the IHSA state finals in Peoria March 15-16.

Some 25 years after his father's team won the hearts of Illinois, Rob Judson was a frequent visitor to coach Phil's high school team's practices.

"I am used to seeing my dad at Northern Illinois (as an assistant 10 years ago), at Bradley and Illinois. I am privileged to have coached in the final game here," the younger Judson said.

Judson, a 1976 graduate of Zion-Benton, had his first taste of head coaching at Wauconda in 1982-83. "I remember that year well. I was 23 years old and learned a lot," Judson said. He was a victim of tough economic times, though, and moved on Glenbrook South. The University of Illinois graduate spent two years under coach Jim Molinari's Huskies in 1989-91, with an NCAA berth in 1990-91. From 1991-96, he was an assistant for Molinari at Bradley University, followed by 1996 to 2001 at Illinois, working for Lon Kruger and Bill Self.

Judson will now take his famous basketball heritage to the DeKalb school's new 36 million, 9,100 seat Convocation Center next year. NIU hopes the facility will lead to hoops success and a consistent contender in the MAC. The last NCAA men's tournament appearance was 1995-96, when Stevenson grad Chris Coleman almost led the Huskies to a first-round win over Texas Tech.

The "old barn's" first game was Dec. 3, 1957. "We played before a huge crowd to open the building. It was a big step up from Steel Gym," said Leo Finn, who played in the 79-68 NIU win over Winona State.

The importance of the day, including a win by the women's team and an entertaining, no defense alumni game, was not lost on present Huskies. Senior Leon Rodgers went out with a 25-point game, with four others in double figures.

"We're excited to move into the convocations center next year. There is a great tradition of pride here," said Judson.

"If it was not for the spirit of the Huskie fans, we would not have had these wins. I am very proud of Coach Judson," Cary Groth, athletic director, told the huge gathering.

The Huskies have a women's conference tournament game at Evans March 2. With its 7-9 mark, the team is still in the hunt for a MAC first-round tournament game.

But for one special Saturday, for the famed Judson family, the "Last Hurrah", was indeed, the "Best Hurrah." The Hebron hurrah continues, into its second half-century.

Good luck to area cheerleaders who have qualified for the Illinois Cheerleading Coaches Association competition, to be held Mar. 9-10 in Springfield. Teams representing the area include, in the Junior Varsity Division, Antioch, Grayslake and Lake Zurich sophomores, Carmel and Mundelein junior varsity, and the Lake Zurich freshman.

Schools qualifying in the Medium Varsity
Division included Carmel, Libertyville, Lake
Forest and Warren. In the Co-Ed Varsity
Division, Grant, Mundelein, Vernon Hills and Round Lake all earned spots. Finally, representing the Large Varsity Division will include Lake Zurich, Barrington and Stevenson.

Dancing their way to Champaign

By JOE PRUSKI Correspondent

Pressure, safety pins, or snow were going to keep the Antioch High School dance team from qualifying for the state competition Mar. 2 at Harlem High School in Rockford.

To qualify for the state competition at super sectionals, a team must score 78 percent or better, which is the equivalent of 156 points out of 200. Antioch overcame that.

According to Illinois Drill Team Association (IDTA) rules, no part of a safety pin can be showing on the clothing of the competitors during their performances. Although Antioch coaches, performers, and fans disagree, the judges thought otherwise, deducting points from the Sequoits score. Not enough points however, were deducted to keep Antioch from qualifying for state.

"It's a very controversial rule," said Antioch co- captain Ashley Ginascol. "It really hasn't been cleared up yet."

Antioch's first performance was set to begin at 10:48 a.m. With the snow falling hard and making it difficult to go just about anywhere, the last thing Antioch wanted was to miss their competition. As a precaution, they left for Rockford a day earlier and stayed in a hotel the night before the competition.

At the Harlem super sectional, Antioch performed their kick and funk routines in the triple 'A' category for a chance to take the two dances to state. They qualified both.

In the kick category, Antioch finished third behind Stevenson High School and Palatine Fremd. Also qualifying for state in the triple 'A' kick category was Lockport High School and Barrington High School.

"We probably gave two of the best performances we have given all year," said Ginascol. "We still have a long way to go though cleaning up out routines, but were definitely headed in the right direction."

Ten teams from the north super sectional

The Antioch varsity girls dance team has once again qualified for the state competition in the kick and funk routines. The Sequoits, state champs two years ago, head to The University of Illinois in Champaign March 23. The team includes (in no order) co-captains Tristan Gandolfi and Kym Boyer, Heather Axton, Lindsay Bailey, Megan Beemer, Brittany Berman, Jenna Diemer, Megan Genengels, Ashley Ginascol, Kari Hintz, Kaja Milovonavic, Lauren Popp, Amanda Rzysko, Amy Shouse, Kristol Sikora, Heidi Soder and Mandy Vickers. qualified for state in the triple 'A' funk category, with Antioch finishing fourth. St. Charles East, Jacobs, and Lincoln Way Central High School's finished ahead of the Sequoits.

Antioch had qualified for super sectional two weeks earlier at the Stevenson Invitational in Lincolnshire. The team took home two first-place finishes and a second place finish in their three categories.

All that's left now is the state competition at Assembly Hall at the University of Illinois

Champaign-Urbana Mar. 23.

Two years ago, the team won a state championship in the triple 'A' kick category and last year the team finished the state finals coming home with two second place trophies. This year's state squad has six members that were on that state championship team. Safe to say, they have another title on their mind.

"Our goal going into state is to just perform our routines and know that we have given them our best," said Ginascol.

Defense lets Lancers down in Minnesota

By ROB BACKUS Staff Reporter

In its annual trip to the Metrodome in Minneapolis, CLC went 2-2 in two double-headers with Harper and Iowa Lakes, splitting the twin billing with both teams.

In their first game against Harper, the Lancers won 4-2 thanks in part to a strong outing from Donny Leicht now the number one pitcher after the season-ending injury to Matt Mitchell.

Leicht went five innings, giving up three hits and two runs (one earned) while striking out eight.

"I was very pleased with his outing," said head coach Gene Hanson. "With Matt out, Donny's gonna have to have an outstanding year and he got off to a good start." Danny Braswell picked up the save with two innings of no-hit relief, with five of the six outs coming on ground balls.

Alex Frank (2-for-4, two runs score, one RBI), Chris Draska (2-for-4, one RBI) and Dave Paddock (one-run double) provided the offense for CLC.

In their next game, an 8-7 loss to Harper, the Lancers committed four errors, mostly on errant throws.

Russ Schaibly his a three-run home run, Rick Trampke went 2-for-3 with a double, a triple and an RBI and Frank added two hits.

The third game against Iowa Lakes was the low-point for the Lancers as they committed eight errors and lost 8-7.

Ryan Sullivan, a transfer from St. Louis, went 3-for-4 with two RBI, Frank went 2-for-4 with a triple and Draska went 2-for-4 with an RBI for CLC.

In their final game of the trip, eight of the first nine Lancers got hits and scored as CLC took an 8-0 lead in the first inning and never looked back, winning 13-6.

Schaibly picked up the win, going three innings, while giving up two hits and one earned run while striking out two. He also had a two-run double and three RBI at the plate.

Draska (2-for-3, two RBI) and Trampke (2-for-3, two RBI) also had good games for CLC.

"Overall, it was a good trip," said Hanson.
"We could have played better but no one's upset. We'll be okay."

CLC has had several cancellations due to inclement weather, so its next scheduled games will be on the annual spring trip to Florida. The Lancers will be in Ft. Pierce, Fla. from March 21-28.

Carmel boys hoops bows out; future bright

By WESLEY WARD
Correspondent

Carmel's boy's basketball team's season came to an end last week as the Corsairs fell to sixth-seeded Stevenson 53-38 in the first round of regional.

The eleventh ranked Corsairs put together a strong performance for 28 minutes of the game, but for a three minute stretch before halftime, the Patriots went on a 14-0 spree that put the game out Carmel's reach.

"We played really well for most of the game," said Carmel Head Coach Joe Molloy. "During their run we broke down an a couple of defensive assignments and missed some offensive opportunities and that put us in a hole."

The loss signaled the end to Carmel's 10-16 season and was the final game in the careers of forwards Brian Schlemm, John Poletto and guard Tommy Morrow. Schlemm and Poletto were among the Corsairs offensive leaders all season while Morrow added his defensive prowess to the mix.

While the three seniors will be missed, four other players are waiting in the wings. Juniors Dexter Reed and Sean Walker and sophomores Jack Simmons and Mark Venegoni will be just a few of the major ingredients in Carmel's plans for next season.

Early-season inexperience hindered the Corsairs. But as the 2001-02 campaign progressed, the team learned to play together. After a rough stretch through Christmas, Carmel rebounded in the final weeks of the season kept every game close.

"We did not have a whole lot of experience entering into this season," said Molloy. "The guys struggled to develop at the beginning but in the final four or five weeks of the season we were in every game."

Experience should not play as much of a factor next season, as Reed, Simmons, Venegoni all return. However, Molloy believes his team's success next season will depend on how the team works in the off-season.

"This is a good group of athletes, but they are going to have to keep working hard to win," said Molloy. "The guys need to focus on becoming better players and that takes commitment. They have the will to win and that will be a major in our success next year."

Battistone was the only individual from his club to qualify in the Novice Division.

"He's one of the most improved wrestlers on the team," said Billy's coach and father, Bill Battistone, Sr. "He has come a long way since the first time he stepped on the mat." News and notes Libertyville High School athletes will be sponsoring a Jr. High School Athletic Leadership Conference on Sat., Mar. 9. The conference has been designed and will be run by our student-athlete leaders from Libertyville High School.

The conference generated approximately 75 Jr. High athletes last year and hopes to have as many as 150-200 athletes in attendance this year. Basketball

Millburn March Madness grosses $55K in 2nd year

About 320 attend event, in spite of snow

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER Staff Reporter

Only 30 of the 350 ticket holders for the Second Annual Millburn School March Madness failed to show for the March 2 event, in spite of heavy snow.

Those who did come out for the sold-out dinner-auction were in a generous mood, bidding heavily on various items in both live and silent auctions.

The school expects to realize over $42,000 from the $55,000 gross proceeds from the event. The majority of the money raised was from auction items.

The money will be used for several programs.

Some of the money will be used to purchase two defibrillators for the school.

About $10,000 will be used to continue expansion of the school playgrounds. Another $10,000 will be used to purchase books for the school library for enhanced science and social studies programs.

Each of the middle school grades (6-8) will receive about $4,000 to be used for special activities.

One of the event chairs, Therese Schmidt, explained the breakdown.

"The sixth-graders will use the money for outdoor education," she said. "They spend three nights camping in Wisconsin."

Seventh-graders will get to use the money for the "Red-and-White Banquet" they produce for the eight-grade class.

The eight-graders will use the money to fund a trip to Springfield, as part of their study of the constitution.

Another $4,000 will be distributed in four

Another $4,000 will be distributed in four $1,000 scholarships.

One of the scholarships is named for Richard Framke, who served as Millburn

District 24 superintendent in 1983. Framke was present at the festivities, and sponsored a table for $200 as a show of support.

Wadsworth village president Evelyn Marie Hoselton also attended.

The live auction was conducted by Lenny Khayat, affiliated with the Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth, which was the site for the dinner.

There were a number of unusual items offered for bidding.

District 24 superintendent Jim Menzer offered to prepare a barbecue for 30 people at the winner's home. Khayat added a donation of 10 cases of Corona beer and a bottle of Jose Cuervo tequila. The winning bid was $2,300. While some high bids were predictable, such as $3,300 for a week in Puerta Vallerta, or $2,700 for a trip to Marco Island, Florida, others were complete surprises.

"Someone found an old cheerleader's uniform, from a 1993 state competition," Schmidt said. "No one even knew the cheerleaders had gone to the competition."

The uniform was mounted in a shadow box, and sold for $1,000.

A basketball was signed by the eighthgrade team, and auctioned off. A family vacationing in Hawaii placed a bid by phone, and won the ball for $1,250.

Schmidt and her husband, Don, placed a winning bid of $700 for a "time-out" chair decorated by kindergartners.

"The kids put their fingerprints on the chair, and then painted them to look like bugs," Don Schmidt explained. "The chair was painted with 'Don't bug me. I'm in time out.'"

The Schmidts have four children attending Millburn School, in kindergarten and grades 3, 5 and 7.

"We're already planning for next year," said Therese Schmidt.

Five Lindenhurst senior citizens and a school district have been honored by the Lindenhurst Park District for their contributions of resources, time and energy.

Santa Drago, Jennie Wohelski and Mary Reljic received plaques at the regular meeting of the park district on Feb. 26. Not present, but also honored, were Helen Karczewski and Alma Tworck. All are members of the Lindenhurst/Lake Villa Park District Seniors.

The plaques read, "...in recognition and appreciation of outstanding contributions and unselfish devotion for the advancement of parks, recreation and leisure in the community and the State of Illinois."

The 2001 Co-Community Service Awards were sanctioned by the Illinois Association of Park Districts and Illinois Park and Recreation Association.

The seniors have been instrumental in assisting the park district in securing state grant funding for the community center expansion, as well as a new shuttle bus.

"They really deserved this recognition," said park district executive director Tom Lippert, "These people are dedicated."

Lippert credits the seniors with being the driving force behind the park district's "phase II" construction, which is to include a new senior activities center.

State Rep. Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch), who also presented the seniors with Honor Certificates, has worked with the district to help obtain state grants for the community center expansion.

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) assisted the district in finding funding for the shuttle bus. The park district has entered into an intergovernmental agreement with Lake

Villa Township to allow the two entities to share the use of the bus, as well as a township CDL-certified driver, garaging and discounted

The district also honored Millburn School District 24 for a wide range of support, including the use of school facilities. The award for Millburn will be presented at the next District 24 school board meeting on March 18.

The park district has presented community service awards for the past decade.

Previous recipients include the following: • 1992—John Miller, Linden Barber Shop (volunteer and financial support); Lake villa Township Lions Club (joint development of John Janega Memorial Park)

• 1993—Ralph Goar, Community Services Officer, Village of Lindenhurst Police Department; Mark N. Scarpelli, V.P and Manager Raymond of General Chevrolet/Oldsmobile/GEO of Antioch (various kinds of support)

Round Lake activist to start April 17

By JEFF ZACHARY Staff Reporter

A Round Lake area mover and shaker is resigning his post as executive director of the Round Lake Area Park District to take a new job as vice-president for administrative affairs at the College of Lake County. Jim Rock, 47, has been with the park district for 21 years and has held the top spot for the last six years.

He has been extremely active in the community and is best known for starting the Round Lake Area BEST (Bringing Everyone's Strength's Together) committee, which has become a considerable force in improving the community's. public image.

Rock is also a director with the Round Lake Area Chamber of Commerce and Industry and has been an instrumental member of the Mano-A-Mano Family Resource Center's board of directors.

Rock commented, "It is not easy to leave the park district after 21 years but at the same time it is a great opportunity to join the college and advance my career."

He added, "It has been a wonderful experience at the park district with a tremendous board, > staff and volunteers." Rock will start his new job on April 17 after Peter Krupczak resigns from the college.

His starting salary will be $110,000 a year.

"He has really done a good job for us and we are going to miss him, " said Jim Shook, president of the park district's board of commissioners. "I'm very pleased with Mr.

Watershed sign program is going at Indian Creek

Diana O'Kelly

Officials from the Lake County Board, Lake County Division of Transportation, Lake County Stormwater Management Commission and Indian Creek Watershed Project dedicated the first of six new watershed identification signs marking the boundary of the Indian Creek Watershed.

The signs serve to raise awareness of the high quality water resources present in the county and the importance of managing those water resources within the watershed.

The dedication ceremony, held on March 4th at the intersection of Butterfield and Golf Roads near Libertyville, is the culmination of several months of planning and cooperation between the Lake County Division of Transportation, Lake County Stormwater Management Commission and the Indian Creek Watershed Project.

"Identifying Lake County's water resources is extremely important, both from a planning standpoint and for educational purposes," said Lake County Board Member Diana O'Kelly, chair of the county's Public Works and Transportation Committee.

"I'm grateful that the Lake County Board and Division of Transportation were able to work in cooperation with Stormwater Management and the Indian Creek Watershed Project on this effort."

The Indian Creek Watershed signs are the first in a series of watershed signs to be installed along county highways by the Stormwater Management Commission and Division of Transportation.

The Lake County Division of Transportation fabricated the watershed identification signs in its sign shop and crews will install the signs along county highways as the roads enter the Indian Creek Watershed.

"This project began a couple of months ago when it was determined that we should raise awareness about Lake County's high quality water resources.

Completion of the project is a reminder of the intergovernmental cooperation that exists throughout the county," said Division of Transportation Director/County Engineer

Marty Buehler.
Stormwater Management
Commission employees will introduce four more sign locations in the coming months in the Squaw

Creek and Sequoit Creek watersheds.

According to Ward Miller, Executive Director of the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission, "We all live in a watershed. We want to let residents get to know the watershed they live in and encourage watershed stakeholders to preserve the natural resources within their watershed."

A watershed is an area of land that drains into a given body of water, like a river or stream. Lake County has twenty-six (26) subwatersheds and four main watersheds: Lake Michigan, Des Plaines, Fox River and North Branch of the Chicago River.

Lake County Stormwater Management Commission is currently conducting management planning efforts in the Indian, Squaw and Sequoit watersheds to better understand and manage flooding, water quality and natural resource impacts as the watersheds urbanize.

For more information about watersheds, go to the Stormwater Management Commission website: www.co.lake.il.us/smc. The Lake County Division of Transportation serves county residents and visitors by, among other things, planning, constructing, maintaining and working to improve the county transportation infrastructure. # Scouts collecting food for pantries

The Northeast Illinois Council, Boy Scouts of America will conduct their annual Scouting for Food drive on Saturday March 9, 2002. During this past week Scouts delivered over 80,000 door hangers advertising the food drive.

Throughout the day on March 9, Scouts will repeat their steps and go door-to-door collecting food from local residents from throughout the 51 communities, that encompass the Northeast Illinois Council. The collected food will be dropped off at nearby drop sites for delivery to local food pantries.

Food pantries very much need to replenish their shelves as most of their holiday food donations have been depleted. This year the Scouts hope to surpass last year's record of 140,000 packages of food.

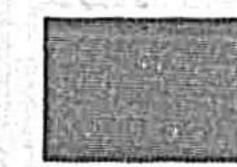

Community service was a primary tenet on which the Boy Scouts of America was founded 92 years ago, and it remains a primary focus today. Scouting's early founders began this tradition with the establishment of the Scout slogan encouraging Scouts to "Do a Good Turn Daily." "Through the generosity of our community and the efforts of thousands of Scouts and their adult leaders, Scouting of Food will have a great impact on the feeding of the hungry in Northeastern Cook County and all of Lake County," said Northeast Illinois Council Scout Executive, Matthew Ackerman. # LCTV expanding into more county communities soon

County television ready to go with three stations

As Lake County officials undergo negotiations with AT&T Broadband to expand coverage of LCTV, residents across the county will be able to tune into three of the channel's programs.

These programs for the channel focuses on local government and provides public information to residents regarding their county government.

The three programs, On The Agenda, County Connection and Lake County Edition, will appear at various times on area public access channels.

Coverage on the public access channels is in addition to LCTV's normal broadcast to communities from Lake Forest north to Zion and west to Gurnee.

On The Agenda is a rebroadcast of the monthly Lake County Board meeting, which is also shown live on LCTV. County Connection gives viewers access to county government events, such as ribbon cutting ceremonies, speeches by government officials and various community programs.

Lake County Edition is a news magazine program that provides an inside look at decisions of the county board and covers issues and programs Lake County elected officials and departments are confronting, and provides information on the Lake County community.

"Television is an important way to reach county residents, and we are excited that citizens throughout the county will now have an opportunity to see programs from LCTV," said Lake County Board chairman Suzi Schmidt. In addition to normal broadcast areas, these LCTV programs will be shown on public access channels in Antioch, Bannockburn, Barrington, Deerfield, Fort Sheridan, Grayslake, Hawthorn Woods, Highland Park, Highwood, Lake Zurich, Libertyville, Lincolnshire, Lindenhurst, Mundelein, Riverwoods, Wadsworth, Wauconda and Winthrop Harbor, Highland Park, Deerfield, Fort Sheridan.

Additional views on County Board

The continue our review and comments on candidates seeking nominations to the Lake County Board in the March 19 primary election.

District 13 (Lake Forest, Lake Bluff): Two quality candidates with experience in elective office and government are competing for the Republican nomination. Susan Loving Gravenhorst of Lake Forest is preferred on the basis of her exemplary service as a trustee of the University of Illinois, including a term as chairman. Gravenhorst knows budgeting and how to formulate policy. She is opposed by Bob Rolek of Lake Bluff, who has school board experience and a background in park district management. Suzanne Baker McWilliams of Knollwood is running unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

District 14 (North Chicago): Democrat incumbent Audrey H. Nixon is running unopposed.

District 15 (Libertyville): Republican incumbent Carol Calabresa is running unopposed.

District 16 (Round Lake area): In a crowded field of evenly matched Republican candidates, Don Newby, a village trustee of Round Lake stands out for courage displayed in opposing a peaker plant despite tremendous pressure from fellow officials. Patrick Anderson of Round Lake Beach, four-term Avon Township road commissioner, is working to overcome charges of holding two public offices if nominated and elected. Robert "Bob" Powers of Round Lake Beach, is a faithful party worker who has two previous defeats to overcome. Edward "Ed" Soto of Hainesville has a solid record of community service, but is not familiar with county government. Tim S. Powell of Hainesville is running on a record of 29 years in law enforcement. Newby is endorsed.

District 17 (Barrington area, Island Lake): Democrat Nan-cy Shepherdon of Deer Park running unopposed. Republican incumbent Stevenson Mountsier of Lake Barrington running unopposed.

District 18 (Vernon Hills): Democrat Neil Goldberg and Republican incumbent Pamela O. Newton, both of Vernon Hills, running unopposed.

District 19 (Lake Zurich, Kildeer): Republican Michael S. Talbett is running unopposed.

District 20 (Buffalo Grove): Republican incumbent David B. Stolman running unopposed.

District 21 (Green Oaks, Lincolnshire, Bannockburn, Riverwoods): Gregory G. Jackson of Buffalo Grove and Pam Kerpec of Libertyville are contesting for the Democratic nomination. Jackson, a Marine Corps veteran and public affairs professional, is schooling himself about county issues. He discovered that Route 53 is an empty answer to highway gridlock and hasn't been afraid to say so. Kerpec is a former Mundelein village trustee who has a keen interest in conservation and community development. Both qualified. The Republican contestants, Tom Adams of Green Oaks and Ann B. Maine of Lincolnshire have village government experience that would be useful in improving relations between the county and municipalities. Adams has to shake off losses in two previous attempts for office outside his home community. Maine is conservationminded and savvy how inter-government relations work. An outright endorsement is withheld because both are equally qualified.

District 22 (Deerfield area, Highland Park): Both Democrat incumbent Carol Spielman of Highland Park and Republican Baram D. Avreham of Deerfield are running unopposed.

District 23 (Highland Park, Highwood): Republican Peter J. Koukos of Highland Park is running unopposed. A spirited race is being conducted for the Democratic nomination. Arlene Demb of Highland Park has run for public office before and is familiar to voters. Anne Flanigan Bassi of Highland Park possesses the energy, intelligence and professional background as a Certified Public Accountant to add financial expertise to the board. Bassi is endorsed.

Tennis camp draws players, volunteers

ere's some news that is a joy to report.

Celeste Pregracke and Becky Gifford are tennis teaching professionals known as the Court Aces. Besides their regular students, they operate tennis camps for the developmentally disabled. Operations are humming.

There are plenty of students, according to Celeste, a resident of Waukegan. The challenge for the two teachers is to line up sponsors and volunteers to assist with instruction. So far, that's worked out better than expected. "Northern Lake County has the best volunteers around. Lately, I've had to turn volunteers away," reported Pregracke.

The Lake Bluff Racket Club has provided facilities and support. The first camp was sponsored by Jerry Brunette of Mundelein. Becky, a resident of Long Grove, handled the second camp on her own. Pregracke applauded Laura Danley and Randy Malone of the club for making the tennis clinic possible. Paul Brya filled special needs for the disable tennis enthusiasts.

In extending public recognition of the volunteers, Pregracke commented, "Sometimes we see the world only as cruel and selfish. But when you work these programs as I do, you see the kindness and unselfishness greatly outweigh the negative. Thanks to everyone for giving our athletes an opportunity to learn or better their game of tennis in a fun, exciting environment."

Future stars

If history repeats, some future stars were born when Six Flags Great America held its annual mid-winter tryouts for summer entertaining positions. The tryouts in Gurnee always attract budding young singers, dancers, musicians and other performers from all over the Midwest.

Todd Stickney, entertainment manager, said selection for the Great America cast has been a stepping stone to professional careers for 30 years. Cast members hone their talents with four to six shows daily. A summer at Gurnee results in hundreds of performances for the star struck youngsters.

There is a growing number of Lake County Great America alumni performing in big name venues across the nation. One of the most visable is Marvin "Smitty" Smith Jr., of Waukegan, drummer on the Tonight Show with Jay Leno. Kevin Anderson of Gurnee, a member of the Colonial drill team at Yankee Harbor 1976-78, is a veteran of Chicago's Steppenwolf Theatre and has co-starred in a Julia Roberts film "Sleeping with the Enemy."

Charles West of Libertyville toured with the European production of "West Side Story." Steve Hiltebrand of Lake Forest recently produced his first musical, "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" at Royal George Theatre, Chicago.

Which high schools send the most graduates to College of Lake County? Hint. There are six. Check Viewpoint next week for the answer.

Fast refunds

Talk about the marvels of modern technology. Record numbers of Illinois taxpayers are filing electronically and getting their state tax refunds in a week. As of late last month, 850,000 taxpayers had filed electronically. Director of Revenue Glen Bower said electronic filing even has benefits for those not in line for a refund. Oh? He said electronic filing eliminates lost or forgotten attachments and other human errors. So much for speedy refunds. Then there's the theory about filing by snail mail at the last minute to minimize the chance of an audit. There's something to say about being old-fashioned.

State rep battle reshapes politics

redictions are that the political scene in Mundelein is undergoing major changes with the outcome of the Fremont Township Open Space referendum and the selection of a Republican nominee for state representative.

Opponents of long-time Mayor Marilyn Sindles are taking her to task for flip-flopping on issues, especially the future of Route 53 where the official village position is prioritizing improvements to existing roadways before considering 53. They say Sindles changes her position on the controversial highway extention depending on her audience. Copies of Sindles' pledge to serve full-time made a year ago in her successful re-election bid are being circulated throughout the remapped 51st District.

Fremont Township Assessor Ed Sullivan, who is locked in a struggle with Sindles for the GOP nomination, has picked up endorsements from Republicans in Ela Township, Fremont and Libertyville Township. Sullivan opposes Route 53. Sullivan is supporting the open space question which will be decided March 19.

Suggestions have been raised that fall-out from the Sindles-Sullivan battle with shape Mundelein's village trustee election in 2003. One trustee definitely is not in the Sindles camp. That's Ed Sullivan Sr., father of the state representative aspirant.

Newcomers to Lake County usually are amazed over laid-back politics, especially the Republican brand. Fernando Salazar, a Lake Villa Township GOP precinct committeeman, broke in on the South Side where the atmosphere at election time is "more intense." Salazar, who was schooled by one-time alderman, Eddle Vdrolac, is working hard to get Jim Oberweis nominated for U.S. Senator. Norm Hill, active in DuPage County politics before moving to Grayslake, found Lake County less organized than DuPage. As newcomers, both Salazar and Hill are out "shaking the trees" for votes.

Family tragedy

Ann B. Maine of Lincolnshire, interrupted her campaign for a Republican nomination for County Board representative from District 21, last week to attend the funerals in New York of her mother-in-law and father-in-law who died four days apart. Condolences are extended.

Photo finish

Both the current and immediate past state representative from the 61st District of central Lake County, Suzanne Simpson and Andrea S. Moore, are key members of the team to garner a Republican nomination for the Appellate Court for Circuit Judge Barbara Gilleran-Johnson of Barrington The three-way race is going down to the wire with Circuit Judge Ray McKoski of Lindenhurst and Kenneth Moy of DuPage contesting for votes.

New mayor

Not to be overlooked in electioneering this spring is the city election in Lake Forest Tuesday, March 19, where offices are filled annually under a unique special charter status. It's all Caucus Party again this year after a two-party rucus last year. Caucus Party candidates all are running unopposed. Outgoing Mayor Howard J. Kerr will turn the administration over to John E. Preschlack.

Was the deceased a Cub fan? Packer fan?

ne of the first things I read every day are the obituaries from my old hometown newspaper, the Kenosha News.

I began doing this after the 50-year re-

I began doing this after the 50-year reunion of my high school graduating class. Ninety of my classmates couldn't be there because they already were pushing up daisies, as the euphemism goes.

In the reunion program their names were on a page titled "In Remembrance." It was a staggering list to read; some had been among my closest friends, some were my teammates in sports and a couple were lovely young girls I had dated.

But we who were so close as teen-agers drifted apart over the many years and I didn't know they had died or what had caused their too-soon demise.

Now I keep posted on a daily basis. The Kenosha obits are available on the newspaper's web site, so I don't have to subscribe to what would be my fourth newspaper.

All of this is in prelude to a new wrinkle in the writing of a loved one's obituary. Obits long have recalled the family history of the deceased, plus his or her education, occupation, avocations and accomplishments.

The other day, the first several obits I read included these slices of information:

"She was an avid Packer fan."

"He was an avid Packer and stock-car racing fan."

"Fishing, hunting and archery were his hobbies.

He also was an avid Packer fan."

"He was a Chicago Bears fan."

"He was a Packers and Cubs fan."

"He was the world's greatest Cubs fan."

I kid you not. But I suppose the inclusion of sports fandom makes sense; after all, it was a big part of the person's life.

sons me. I wonder if funeral directors are suggesting this new wrinkle. And that cliché "avid" keeps popping up, like:

THE PFARR CORNER

"He was an avid fisherman." "He was an avid golfer."

I'm a golfer, but I don't want to be remembered as "avid," which only means eager and enthusiastic. I think "marvelous golfer" would be a finer tribute, should the writers of my obit be searching for one.

Speaking of tributes, here's part of a Kenosha obit for 79-year-old John "Big Bad John" Shwaiko. (Yes, the nickname was in the headline.):

"He was one of the surviving 43 passengers aboard the United Airlines Boeing 727 flight from Denver that crashed in Salt Lake City, Utah, on Nov. 12, 1965. He was recognized for saving five lives that day."

So "Big Bad John" dodged the Grim Reaper at age 43 and lived to 79. He also extended the lives of five others and, "he enjoyed traveling, golf and cards."

An obit about a Libertyville man who died at 51 said, "He always will be remembered as the nicest guy in the world." Another, about a man who died at 87, said, "His sense of humor brought joy to the people around him."

Mulling my own obit, which I hope will be written about 30 years from now, may I suggest, "He was always kind to animals and sometimes kind to people?"

GOP obstructionists

t is unfortunate the 33 Republican precinct committeemen comprising the Libertyville Township Republican Central Committee were not able to determine if they wish to endorse Lt. Governor Corrine Wood, Attorney General Jim Ryan or State Senator Patrick O'Malley for the GOP nomination for Governor of Illinois.

During the Central Committee's recent meeting to vote endorsements it was obvious Wood and Ryan each had a substantial number of supporters. However, a vote to endorse a candidate for governor was never taken. Instead, in the spirit of "run-it or-ruin it" four committee members supporting O'Malley spent approximately two hours raising points of order, and demanding a roll-call vote on each.

While many members were willing to stay as long as it took to complete a serious responsibility, enough others threw in the towel and agreed not to have an endorsement vote for governor. A very small but very vocal minority had achieved its goal, to thwart a vote that would almost certainly have shown their candidate finishing a solid and embarrassing last.

Interestingly, the same quartet did not object to voting an endorsement for Jim Oberweis for U.S. Senator even though they were openly supporting John Cox for the nomination. Cox's interests were quickly thrown overboard to prevent O'Malley embarrassment.

Support reproductive rights

March 19, 2002 is an extremely important day for the women of Illinois. It is Primary election day—the day we can take action to preserve reproductive rights in Illinois using the following strategy:

Whatever political party or non-party you may prefer, it is important to ask for a Republican ballot on March 19.

Vote for Corinne Wood for governor. Her two male opponents are anti-choice and if either is elected governor, he will sign any bill that erodes women's reproductive rights. Corinne Wood will not. It is imperative that she win the republican Primary.

All the Democratic candidates for governor are pro-choice. This means that in the November general election, you can vote for Wood—if she wins the Republican Primary, or for the winner of the Democratic Primary. In either case, reproductive rights will be protected in Illinois for at least another four years.

We cannot stress enough the importance of this golden opportunity for Illinois women to take matters into their own hands to preserve autonomy over their own bodies. It's just as important for the men who love us to do the same. Please spread the word.

Use Private Buses

There have been some major concerns presented by local residents to the Antioch Grade School board in regards to a proposed bus barn to be built in the vicinity of Deep Lake Road and Depot Street in Antioch. I believe if such a plan goes forward, it will be costly on two fronts.

The first problem would be the impact on a watershed that already has been compromised by development in that area. Further land coverage will only exacerbate this existing problem. Current residents suffer when poorly planned development leads to flooding conditions to their homes and their area lakes.

The second problem deals with cost. School districts around the state, Antioch High School being one, have experienced impressive cost savings to taxpayers by privatizing such transportation situations. Thousands and thousands of dollars have been saved by turning to contracts with private bus companies. These companies in turn would deal with the problems of bus storage, contracts and legal situations, etc.

In short, the Antioch Grade School Board should look to privatize its transportation system. It will probably save taxpayers some of their hard-earned tax dollars and it will help save a local environment that has already been stressed.

Cannot Do It All

One of the questions that is so often asked about the Fremont Open Space District is: "Why create an Open Space District in Fremont Township when the Forest Preserve is doing such a fine job of purchasing property in our area?"

Well, the answer to that question is: "Yes, the Forest Preserve is doing a great job, but they cannot do it all!" We are very fortunate to have elected officials, like Diana O'Kelly, who is vigilant when it comes to representing her district on a countywide level. When we support the Forest Preserve, we are joining with all the citizens countywide, and tax dollars are pulled from every taxpayer in Lake County and thus, land all over the county is considered for purchase. We are not necessarily guaranteed that it will be here in Fremont Township.

Creating an Open Space district allows our local citizens to have a say in what gets preserved for our future, and what we do with the land. A Fremont Open Space District could preserve working farms and create active recreational use facilities like ball fields, that are needed in Fremont, but the Forest Preserve cannot provide since the Forest Preserve is limited to the preservation of flora and fauna. Open Space districts are not in competition with the Forest Preserve, but rather compliment it based on the community's needs. We would have the capability of acquiring land for our own use, and determining its future.

We, at the local level, could choose whether to create a park or recreation area, keep it in its natural state or preserve it for future generations to remember the rural heritage and farmland. This, however, is what has drawn people to our area to begin with! Vote YES to both create and fund the Open Space District on the March 19th ballot in order to preserve our precious quality of life in Fremont Township!

Take the smoke free home pledge

Parents make important choices for the sake of their children's health every day. One of the most important choices you can make is to not expose your children to secondhand smoke at home or in a car.

Did you know that second-hand smoke is more harmful to children than adults? Children who breathe secondhand smoke are at a higher risk of suffering from bronchitis and pneumonia, wheezing and coughing, more inner-ear infections, and more frequent and severe asthma attacks, according to the Environmental Protection Agency.

There even are links between secondhand smoke and Sudden Infant Death Syndrome, new cases of childhood asthma, and behavioral and cognitive problems in children, according to the National Cancer Institute.

Secondhand smoke, also called environmental tobacco smoke, is a mixture of the smoke given off by the burning end of a cigarette, pipe or cigar and the smoke that is exhaled from the lungs of the smoker. The mixture contains more than 4,000 chemicals, many which linger in the air after smoking.

These are good reasons for smokers to consider not smoking around their kids, grandchildren and other youngsters around them.

All it takes are these steps provided by the Consumer Federation of the America Foundation and the EPA, to make your choose to smoke home smoke free: side of your home.

• Choose not to smoke in your home and don't permit others to do so.

 Choose not to smoke when children are present, especially infants and toddlers. • Don't allow baby sitters or others who work in your home to smoke in the house or near young children.

 Until you can quit, choose to smoke outside. Moving to another room or opening a window is not enough to protect your children.
 If you're ready to make the pledge for a smoke-free home, call the Smoke

Lake Forest Hospital Medication Safety Project shows results

Patient safety is a simple concept. However, according to an Institute of Medicine report, 44,000 to 98,000 patients die every year as the result of medication errors. Lake Forest Hospital (LFH) is part of a yearlong project, sponsored by the Institute for Healthcare Improvement (IHI), that's already produced several new processes for improving medication safety. LFH is one of the 52 hospitals in the United States, Canada and Sweden (the only Lake County hospital) chosen to participate in the project aimed at taking a proactive approach to medication safety. Other participants include Johns Hopkins, Harvard and the Mayo Clinic. Lake Forest Hospital Vice President of Patient Care Susan Wessel says, "We applied to participate because the hospital has made patient safety a strategic priority and we're seeing the benefits for our patients already."

One of the project's goals is to develop a "culture of safety" within the hospital. New safety rounds encourage staff members who handle medication to be constantly observant, think about what could go wrong and report any potential problems. Although the hospital has the all the major elements of a safe system, such as automated dispensing similar to vending machines, staff ideas provide additional details to make the system even safer. An example of this is not putting medications near each other that have the

'We applied to participate because the hospital has made patient safety a strategic priority and we're seeing the benefits for our patients already.'

Susan Wessel Lake Forest Hospital Vice President of Patient Care

One of the project's most important initiatives is to reconcile any differences in the patient's home medications with what the doctor orders in the hospital. Debbie Fluno, PharmD, the clinical manger of the hospital's pharmacy, chairs the LFH group called "The Grateful Med Team". Fluno says the process starts with getting a good history of a patient's medication. Steps are then being take to ensure that the medication patients come in with, that they take while in the hospital and that they go home with are consistent—and that there's no duplication or omissions that could cause harm. The project has found an alarming number of hospitals in this country are doing this poorly. For example, patients may go home on a new medication while continuing to take an old medication at home, not realizing that the combination is dangerous.

The project also focuses on another medication that causes significant patient harm in this country, the oral blood thinner, Warfarin. Lake Forest Hospital has implemented a pharmacy-run anti-coagulation dosing service. Fluno says, "We have learned that the pharmacy staff is more aware of drug interactions and doctors are welcoming their assistance in managing blood thinners."

The IHI project has emphasized working closely with patients as partners in assuring safe medication use. As a patient, you can help by bringing a list of all your current medications and doses with you to the doctor's office and the hospital. Asking questions is another helpful way to be sure everything is clear.

Stroke risk linked to calcium in the heart's arteries

In the first study of its kind, researchers show an association between calcium in the coronary arteries and stroke, according to a report in the February issue of Stroke: Journal of he American Heart Association.

"The study shows that people who experience stroke have higher amounts of calcium in their coronary arteries," says Jacqueline C.M. Witteman, Ph.D., an associate professor of epidemiology in the department of epidemiology and biostatistics at the Erasmus University Medical School at Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

Coronary calcification is related to the amount of underlying coronary atherosclerosis that narrows the blood vessels and causes heart attacks. Atherosclerosis is characterized by the fatty deposits in the blood vessels that can block blood flow, causing a heart attack or stroke. The coronary calcium score, derived from electron-beam computed tomography (EBCT) scans of the coronary arteries, is known to predict the occurrence of cardiac events, such as fatal and nonfatal heart attacks or the need for coronary bypass surgery or coronary (balloon) angioplasty over the next one or two years. EBCT is an especially fast form of X-ray imaging.

"Our finding suggests that calcification of the coronary arteries is also a marker of the presence of atherosclerosis elsewhere in the vascular system," says Witteman.

The researchers studied 2,013 participants, including 50 stroke survivors, in the Rotterdam Coronary Calcification Study. All volunteers underwent an EBCT scan. Subjects were given calcium scores based on the amount of calcium accumulation in their coronary arteries.

Witteman's team found that compared to individuals in the lowest calcium category, those with scores between 101 and 500 were twice as likely to have had a stroke. Subjects were three times more likely to be stroke sufferers if their calcium score was above 500.

"Our results hardly changed when known cardiovascular disease risk factors were taken into account. This suggests that coronary calcification in the circulatory system is independently associated with stroke, regardless of the presence or absence of other known cardiovascular risk factors," says Witteman.

However, this study looked only at people who had already had a stroke. Prospective studies are needed to determine whether healthy people with higher amounts of calcification are at increased risk of stroke, she adds.

Helping a child draw the line with germ phobia

Dear Dr. Singer,

My child had an experience at school recently that really made me think. Another child had some sort of viral infection and my son was terrified to go back to school. He was afraid of catching it. I don't want my child to be so terrified of germs that he becomes a recluse, but I do want to educate him on hygiene and how to be reasonably careful, especially with hearing about all of these recent cases of Meningitis. It is a pretty scary thing these days and I have always been very careful when the kids use public washrooms. I tell them to not touch anything too much, etc. Any thoughts? F.H.

Dear F.H.,

This is a concern every parent has. How to walk that fine line between reason and too much caution. First, I would suggest that you speak with your pediatrician to get your facts straight about viral infections and illnesses. Since I don't have enough information about what this child has, it is difficult to say whether your child has a legitimate concern. Since I am not an M.D., I'm not certain, but I think that viruses are hard to pass. I think that Bacterial infections are easier to pass. Again, I am not an M.D., but I also understand that illnesses such as Meningitis require very intimate contact to be passed and that not all forms of it are contagious. Again, check your facts with an M.D. because my word on those things is certainly not enough. If your Doctor can clarify these facts for you, he or she may be able to calm both you and your son. He needs to know that even if he were to get sick with something he caught, most likely, it will be treatable and will not be the worst ending possible. Now that doesn't mean that he should go out of his way to not be careful, but it may make him feel more comfortable to know that most of the time these "bugs" need very stable to be as dirty as possible, odds say that eventually you will have some sort of problem.

Dr. Sherri Singer

Under most normal circumstances, however, contracting any serious form of illness from being around someone or using a public restroom seems very minor. Certainly, anyone who has kids knows how the cold, the flu, etc. goes from one to the next, but they are usually quickly recovered from. Now, cleanliness is important.

Obviously in a public restroom you want to be careful about how you are handling things. Sounds like you are already on top of that.

You might want to try and separate this out for your child. Let the child know that the majority of the time, serious illness is not easy to get by being in the same room with someone. Ask him to stay at a reasonable distance from someone who is sick. That is just logical for anyone. Maybe educate him on the fact that most illnesses happen from hand to eye and hand to face contact. In other words, we touch things that have been touched by someone with a cold and then rub our eyes, nose or mouth and presto, we get a cold. Good hygiene and washing hands often will reduce the chance of spreading things by hands. Now, watch out that this doesn't start compulsive hand washing. Washing hands often is not a bad thing, especially in a classroom or camp, however, you don't want the child to wash constantly. In between washings, he might use the back of his hand to rub his eye or use his shoulder. I have found that just by following these simple things, I have reduced my own experiences with cold and flu almost completely. By telling him these things it might make him feel more in control and less afraid to be around someone who is sick.

From a general standpoint, I would also find out more about what this other child has. Hopefully if the child knows about the illness it means that he or she is already on some sort of medication, reducing the chance of any transmission. If this is something easily passed, you want to be sure to have information and take precautions. Hope this helps.

A tomato a day keeps the oncologist away.

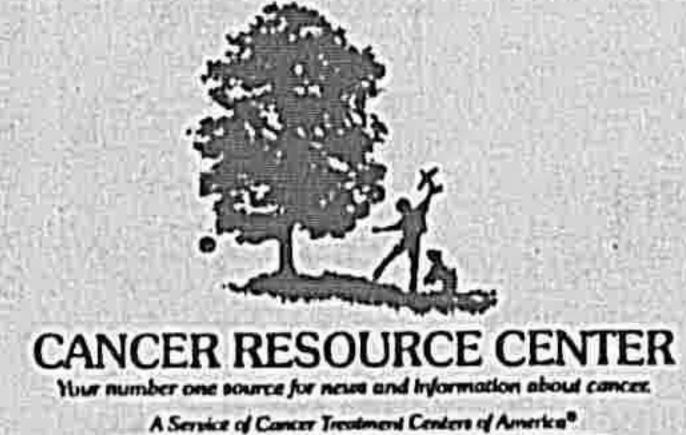

That may not be entirely true but it is true that tomatoes, along with many other foods, have been proven to have cancer fighting properties.

In fact, studies have shown that just five servings of fruits and vegetables daily can prevent as much as 20 percent of all cancers. The cancer fighting benefits of proper nutrition apply to those who have been diagnosed and treated for cancer as well.

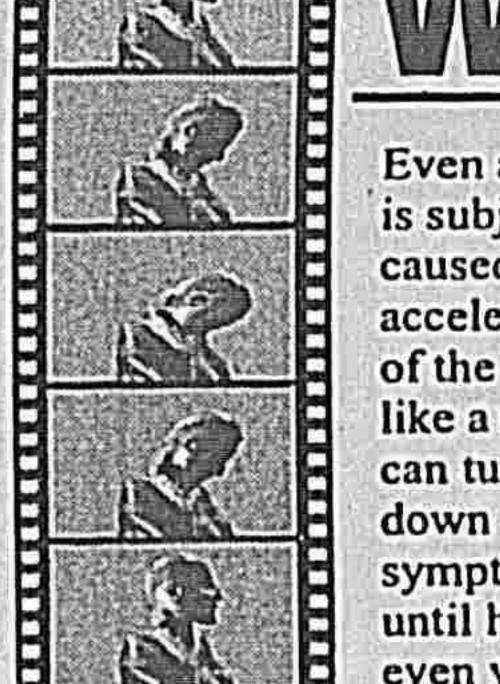

But keeping proper nutritional habits can be very complicated, especially when challenged with the rigors of traditional cancer treatment. If you add in complications from an unhealthy liver, renal system, or diabetes, the proper roadmap for nutrition gets even a little more gray.

That is why consulting a nutritionist can be just what the doctor ordered. Your one-hour consultation is a phone call away. # Lake Zurich girls hoops finish fourth in state

MIKE KRIZMAN Correspondent

Lake Zurich hadn't run into much adversity during their quest towards a state championship this season.

The Bears entered the state tournament in Normals' Redbird Arena over the weekend, sporting the only undefeated record in Class AA at 33-0.

A 47-35 victory over Moline in quarterfinal action Friday raised their win total to 34 wins in 34 tries.

Then came Saturday.

A 50-38 semifinal loss to eventual state champion Hinsdale (Central) put the first blemish on Lake Zurich's record. Later that evening, Neuqua Valley ended their magical season on a down note, beating the Bears 52-45, giving Lake Zurich the fourth place trophy and a 34-2 record to end the season.

But head coach Carl Krause told his team that they have nothing to be ashamed about.

"It was a bad day. But we had 34 good days as opposed to one bad day," Krause said after losing to Neuqua Valley Saturday evening.

"The girls came down here and got a trophy, and that's never been done in Lake Zurich basketball," Krause added. There's no reason for them to hang their heads."

For Neuqua Valley, it was a matter of finishing the 2001-2002 season without a bad taste in their mouth.

"We didn't want to end the season on a down note," Neuqua Valley senior Jennia Siljendahl said. "Being a senior I wanted to remember my last game as a win. This was for my teammates and the other seniors."

Neuqua Valley head coach Mike Williams couldn't be happier.

"It feels great to end the season with a win," Williams said.

"We challenged the seniors after we lost to Marian Catholic and told them that they had to be leaders out there tonight. That's exactly what they did."

Playing their third game in three days, both teams were hampered by poor shooting the entire game. Lake Zurich and Neuqua Valley connected on only six field goals in the second half.

"It was a short turnaround after our last game, but we just didn't shoot the ball well," Krause said. "Neuqua Valley outplayed us and we didn't deserve to win."

Lake Zurich senior Jessie Miller sank a pair of free throws with 6:02 left in the first quarter to put her team up 4-2. It was the only lead the Bears would hold the entire game.

Siljendahl knocked down a short jumper and a baseline fade away on two straight Neuqua Valley possessions, putting the Wildcats up 8-4.

Neuqua Valley extended their lead to 13-4 after a pair of free throws by Jessica Jones. Lake Zurich's Laura Mount ended the Wildcats' 11-0 run with a jumper, making the score 13-6 Neuqua Valley.

The Wildcats held a 22-14 advantage at the end of one quarter.

Lake Zurich was down 35-31 at the start of the second half, but were down by only two points when a Johanna Solverson lay-up cut the Wildcat lead to 37-35 midway through the third quarter.

The Bears were within one point of Neuqua Valley on three separate occasions during the fourth quarter. But the Wildcats answered every bucket Lake Zurich scored, keeping their lead at three points for much of the fourth quarter.

Solverson knocked down a jumper with a 3:47 left in the game to cut Neuqua Valley's lead to 46-45.

Lake Zurich would get no closer.

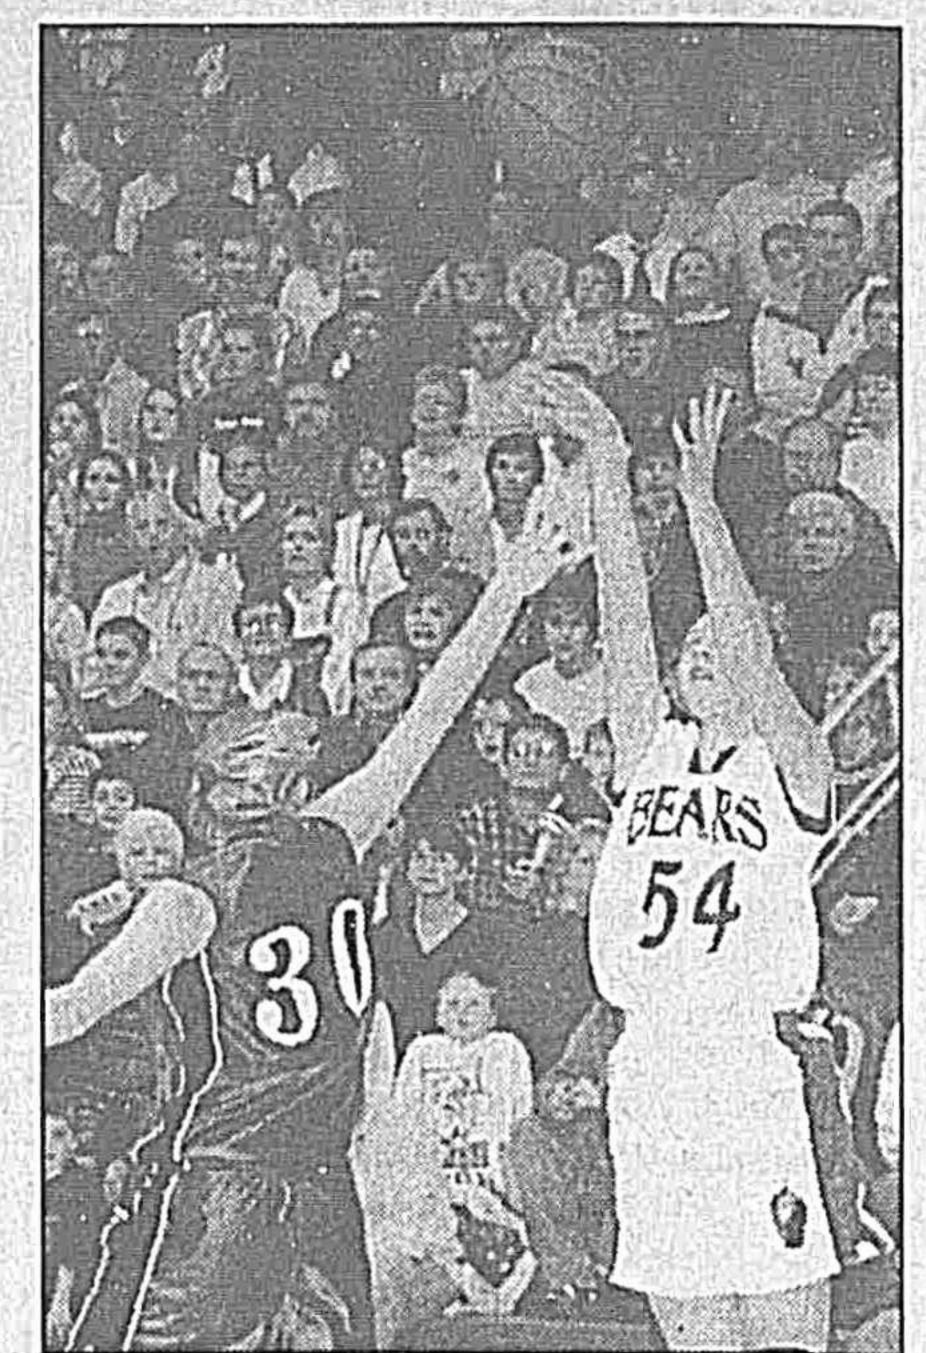

Seven seconds later an Erin McDowell jumper put Neuqua Valley up 48-45.

Neuqua Valley's Lindsay Wisdom knocked down four straight free throws in the final 16 seconds for the game's final score.

"I'm proud of what our kids accomplished," Krause said. "We've battled through some tough games to get here. It was just one bad day as opposed to a bunch of good ones." Reigning three's

Four area basketball players competed in the Country Insurance Three-Point Showdown over the weekend, but failed to make it past the preliminary round.

Congratulations to Carmel's Megan Lick, Grayslake's Rachel Miner, Antioch's Alex Mika and Lake Zurich's Patti Hornung for their participation in the event.

MARK STRICKLIN Democrat

Running for County Board District 2

How long have you lived in Beach Park? 11 years Do you hold a political office now? Waukegan Twp. Clerk—2 years Community activities/involvement: Active in church at Cornerstone Community Church, volunteer at Great Lakes Navy Base.

Why are you running for office? There needs to be a balance between the no-growth sector of the board and bringing economic development without hurting the school districts.

What is the key issue in your race? Open space, we need to balance our energy towards road development, not so much towards forest preserve.

What would you do differently from the current administration? Help bring affordable housing, have board concentrate more on helping out locally. Move towards purchasing development rights, but keep lands rural.

Family consists of: Wife of 23 years, 2 daughters, 3 grandchildren

What would you like to tell the general public? I'm for saving our wetlands and open space, we've gone anti-business in a way with many businesses going to Wisconsin. Businesses are our allies, not our enemies.

money from downstate for the roads. Family consists of: Wife, son, Stanley; daughter-inlaw, grandson granddaughter Lonie; three brothers

Why are you running for office? I am running for re-election to complete the work I am doing now, which is Regional Planning for the county, Farmland Preservation, Buying Open Lands for Forest Preserves and opposing inequitable tax assessments What is the key issue for Grayslake? The key to preserve Open Lands and will help planning efforts to make Lake County "One Community." Family consists of: wife, son, two daughters

Why are you running for office? I am running for re-election to continue bringing to Lake County residents a responsive government that promotes a practical approach to smart growth.

Family consists of: Husband and three children

Do you hold a political office now? Avon Township Republican Precinct Committeeman

Community activities/ involvement: Grayslake Lions Club, Grayslake Exchange Club, Avon Township Republican Precinct Committeeman, Lake County Republican Federation

Why are you running for office? As an active community leader, I am concerned about the direction of county government. My opponent has been a leader in the 'no growth' philosophy of the county, which I feel is detrimental to all residents of Lake County. I believe a more practical approach is a balanced growth platform.

What would you do differently from the current administration/ if re-elected, what do you want to accomplish? I would support the extension of Route 53 and the creation of more small business and light industrial properties in our area, both of which my opponent is adamantly opposed to. As a CPA, a conservative approach to managing the county's $348 million budget will be a key priority.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

and No

Grayslake High school has not reached full capacity, and taxpayers do not know the final decision on settlement of the situation of Round Lake School District. We the taxpayers, must assume that if Grayslake gets part of the students of Round Lake, then certainly we would get some of the school buildings. Should we rush into building another school now, or vote "NO" and wait until the problem in Round Lake is resolved?

Akeland Newspapers

The second question on the ballot asking for support of "CORE Knowledge" deserves real consideration for passage. We have seen the Illinois State Report Cards for District 46. We believe that it is time that some one steps forward and says "We want a better education for our children." The 1995 IGAT Report Card showed the third grade reading scores at one school with 22 percent below state standards. Six years later in 2001, the same school had 27 percent below state standards on the ISAT test. Our taxes "go higher and the grades go lower." Maybe district 46 needs outside help for inside results—or maybe that is all we should expect, when the report shows that only 4.2 hours per day is spent teaching Core subjects.

According to our local press, the village has told District 46 elected officials that the "building boom" is over, and the press reports that the new school in Hainesville is only at 50 percent of capacity. That being the case, why is the school board planning to build another grade school in the village of Round Lake on Highway 120 for District 46 children living in that area? Further, why is Lake View School being closed and turning this $6 million facility into an administrative office?

With the boom terminating, should the taxpayers spend millions of dollars now and have an empty building in a few years? This over-building has happened to other communities around us. We urge voters to study these proposals and VOTE March 19.

Owners considered

We would like to publicly thank the Lake County Board, the Zoning Board of Appeals, Warren Township, and particularly District 11 Rep. Sandy Cole for supporting us in our opposition to a rezoning request in our subdivision. The owner of the property in question, a one-acre residential parcel on the southwest corner of Wright Avenue, requested to rezone the parcel to commercial without much consideration for the surrounding homeowners.

This is a situation that appears to be all too common as Lake County develops. As usual, child safety, flooding issues, homeowner property values, and neighborhood aesthetics were to be the sacrificial lambs for the sake of another half-empty strip mall and car wash.

Hopefully, our elected officials will continue to respond to the concerns of residential neighborhoods throughout the county, giving families like us what they came to Lake County for—wide-open spaces and peace of mind.

UNWANTED CURVES

While the spine naturally has a front-to-back curve that produces the normal rounding of the shoulders and the sway of the lower back, some people suffer from an abnormal curvature of the spine called "scoliosis." Simply put, scoliosis is generally associated with a side-to-side twisting of the spine that renders an S-shaped appearance, even a corkscrew appearance in some cases. Almost three out of every 100 people have some degree of abnormal spine curvature. For some, it never becomes a serious problem. For others, the curve may worsen over time to cause pain, limited movement, and restrictions on breathing and circulation. ### LETTERS TO EDITOR

Yes and No

Grayslake High school has not reached full capacity, and taxpayers do not know the final decision on settlement of the situation of Round Lake School District. We the taxpayers, must assume that if Grayslake gets part of the students of Round Lake, then certainly we would get some of the school buildings. Should we rush into building another school now, or vote "NO" and wait until the problem in Round Lake is resolved?

The second question on the ballot asking for support of "CORE Knowledge" deserves real consideration for passage. We have seen the Illinois State Report Cards for District 46. We believe that it is time that some one steps forward and says "We want a better education for our children." The 1995 IGAT Report Card showed the third grade reading scores at one school with 22 percent below state standards. Six years later in 2001, the same school had 27 percent below state standards on the ISAT test. Our taxes "go higher and the grades go lower." Maybe district 46 needs outside help for inside results—or maybe that is all we should expect, when the report shows that only 4.2 hours per day is spent teaching Core subjects.

According to our local press, the village has told District 46 elected officials that the "building boom" is over, and the press reports that the new school in Hainesville is only at 50 percent of capacity. That being the case, why is the school board planning to build another grade school in the village of Round Lake on Highway 120 for District 46 children living in that area? Further, why is Lake View School being closed and turning this $6 million facility into an administrative office?

With the boom terminating, should the taxpayers spend millions of dollars now and have an empty building in a few years? This over-building has happened to other communities around us. We urge voters to study these proposals and VOTE March 19.

Owners considered

We would like to publicly thank the Lake County Board, the Zoning Board of Appeals, Warren Township, and particularly District 11 Rep. Sandy Cole for supporting us in our opposition to a rezoning request in our subdivision. The owner of the property in question, a one-acre residential parcel on the southwest corner of Wright Avenue, requested to rezone the parcel to commercial without much consideration for the surrounding homeowners.

This is a situation that appears to be all too common as Lake County develops. As usual, child safety, flooding issues, homeowner property values, and neighborhood aesthetics were to be the sacrificial lambs for the sake of another half-empty strip mall and car wash.

Hopefully, our elected officials will continue to respond to the concerns of residential neighborhoods throughout the county, giving families like us what they came to Lake County for-wide-open spaces and peace of

Latest home décor trends lead back to nature

Imagine the soothing silver-green of prairie grassland. Or the deep shimmering blue of an ocean bay. Colors evoking calm and a sense of connection to nature will be on the leading edge of home design this year.

Experts say the influence of nature on the latest colors and styles is an attempt to counterbalance the strong effect of technology in our everyday lives. "There is a strong desire to balance the sensory overload from technology with the need for human sensory experience," says Todd Imholte, president of Environmental Graphics. "Many of the newest motifs and colors are inspired by the botanical and organic qualities of plants, fruits, vegetables and grains," he says. For instance, floral prints in upholstery, drapes and wall coverings have made a come-back this year, and brocaded silks and jacquards evoke warmth and luxury.

Softer nature-based tones are showing up at textile and home decorating shows all over the world. Various shades of peach will be the most popular form of orange this year, and green-cast blues, reminiscent of water, are a new look. Some additional examples of naturally inspired colors are:

 Tiger Lily: a complex, multidimensional orange combining the vibrant florals of nature with the satisfying glow of a quiet fire.

 Pineapple: a pale, luminescent yellow with organic overtones, it bridges spring into winter with a softness that is almost neutral.

 Oxygen: a blue sky as seen through a glass block, with a silver influence on aquatic Gingko: the botanical green of dried grasslands, bridging the freshness of mustard green with the relaxing feel of forest moss.

• Essence of Lilac: a translucent, pale botanical blue with a hint of lilac. Sycamore: an update of a classic neutral brown, edgy but luxurious. Another trend emerging in home design shows around the world is large patterns: the bigger, the better. For example, at a show in Paris, giant spring flowers blossomed across a meadow of bold yellow and white stripes and a large, curvy sofa was covered in huge redon-red roses the size of beach balls.

Bold patterns can be a refreshing break from minimalistic furnishings, adding weight and shape to the sometimes-stark interiors often favored by architects.

Giant scale, either as a pattern or a graphic, can visually expand a small space. A largescale wall covering can define a style and boost a room's personality from "wallflower" to "social butterfly." One easy way to transform a room and bring a dose of nature indoors at the same time is by installing a wall mural.

"Wall murals from Environmental Graph-

Environmental Graphics' murals are a perfect way to add a view to a room that may not have one.

ics can transform a room into whatever you want it to be, from a haven for daydreaming, or a garden for reflection, a pastel desert to a crystalline lake in the woods," says Imholte. "Wall murals are easy to install, won't hurt your walls and can instantly transform a room from ordinary to breathtaking."

One mural that encompasses both of this year's hottest design trends is "Dolphins' Paradise," an underwater scene that depicts dolphins gracefully swimming through a coral reef. The deep, aquatic blues and the play of light across the coral evoke the serenity of an escape to nature, while the mural's size, at 13 feet by 8 feet, makes an immediate and lasting impression upon entering a room.

Environmental Graphics' murals are a perfect way to add a view to a room that may not have one. Many customers have installed murals in basements or rooms that have been added or remodeled. The mural can resemble a large window by adding molding around the image to echo existing windows in the home, and adds a feeling of light and spaciousness.

Several popular murals can bring the tranquility of nature into a room, with all its warmth and color. "Serenity" shows a quiet path leading to a gated garden; "Cinnamon Bay" shows a deep blue bay surrounded by white sand beaches, and "Oriental Garden" shows a quiet stream falling over rocks among green and flowering plants.

Klug beats disease, foes, to win bronze

By STEVE PETERSON Staff Reporter

It is amazing what winning a medal in the Olympic Games can mean.

"They called from Paris," said Joyce Klug, mother of Chris Klug.

Klug won the bronze medal in the snowboarding event at the Salt Lake City Winter Olympics. His family was watching, clutching blue flags and cheering him on in his effort. There were almost 70 family members in attendance when Klug won the bronze.

"It was just glorious," Joyce Klug said. Joyce and her husband Warren Klub both live in Lake Zurich. Klug, 29, now lives in Aspen, Colo.

Klug was one of the inspirational stories of the Games. He had a liver replacement just months earlier. Within three weeks of the surgery, he was back on the slopes. He was diagnosed with the same disease that claimed the life of Chicago Bears great Walter Payton. A family from Denver's child's liver was found to be a perfect match. "He hopes to go meet the family," his grandmother said. "The whole family stayed in Denver to wait for the operation. He was in a lot of pain and jandus had set in. He was a young man, 6-foot, 3-inches, but he never lost his will. He had a lot of weight loss," said Joyce Klug.

It was a matter-of-fact increase in the pain, and the realization that the disease had killed Payton, that led Klug to seek surgery.

After a full recovery, he qualified with the most points of any American in the Grand Prix events. He was headed to the Olympics to lead the American high hopes in the relatively new event called snowboarding.

"He grew up skiing and snowboarding on the slopes of Vale and Aspen and goes to the ocean to surf," Joyce Klug said.

Klug has an older brother, Jim, who has made a name for himself arranging fly fishing trips. His sister attends college in Maine and snowboards.

At the Olympics, he had to overcome a broken buckle. "He messed it up on the second run. On the third run, he found some wire and duct tape. At that moment, he said he would not allow a buckle to defeat him," said Joyce Klug.

Snowboarding turned out to be one of the highest attended events during the Olympics.

When he recovered in the finals to win the bronze, there was quite a celebration in Salt Lake City. The medal helped the U.S. secure a record 14, at the time, passing the former Winter Olympics effort for the U.S. Phillip Schoch of Switzerland won the gold and Sweeden's Richard Richardsson won the silver. Europeans were expected to sweep the medals, but Klug's determination interrupted those plans. He was the only American in the finals.

"The event is only 5-years-old, but it is very popular. It is also very dangerous, with tremendous speeds," said Warren Klug, Chris's father.

Chris Klug played football for his high school team in Bend, Oregon, where he was an all-state quarterback. He has also lived in Vale and Aspen.

"We were able to stay in pretty close contact with him," Joyce Klug said of the Olympics.

·Klug had an important part in the Opening Ceremony on Feb. 5. He carried the flag of the World Trade Center. "I am tremendously honored to carry the flag of the World Trade Center in the 19th Winter Olympic Games in Salt Lake City. The WTC flag represents the pride of our nation and the resiliency of our people. It is a symbol to the heroes who responded to the September tragedies and the best in America. I am proud to be a part of the ceremony. I have looked forward to this day since Nagano in 1998," Klug said on his web site.

Klug helped Saturn automobile company out with its national donor day program, the largest single awareness event in the world.

He has won snowboarding events at Oglang Italy, won the US National Championship in Sunday River, Maine; the Grand Prix in 2000 in Vermont, and events in Germany, France and Colorado. He won the North American title in 1987 in Canada, a junior event that was his first big success.

Warner's new game plan is proving more satisfying

By STEVE PETERSON Staff Reporter

Kurt Warner has a new game plan.

The quarterback for the St. Louis Rams, a native of Burlington Iowa, who spent time on the bench at Northern Iowa and worked at a grocery store, is becoming the most recognizable fan of Jesus Christ.

He brought is message to hundreds gathered at Willow Creek Community Church in South Barrington. Some were football fans, others church faithful. They all left with a feeling of up-liftedness and hope.

"I used to think of God as being in the trunk of my car. He was there when I needed Him. But now, I know, he has to be in the driver's seat," Warner said.

It was through his wife, Brenda, that Warner, who once played flag football while his friends played tackle, that even a Super Bowl victory takes a back seat. Warner's accomplishments were secondary to the message, even on the sports cards handed out. He is listed as born again on June 30, 1996.

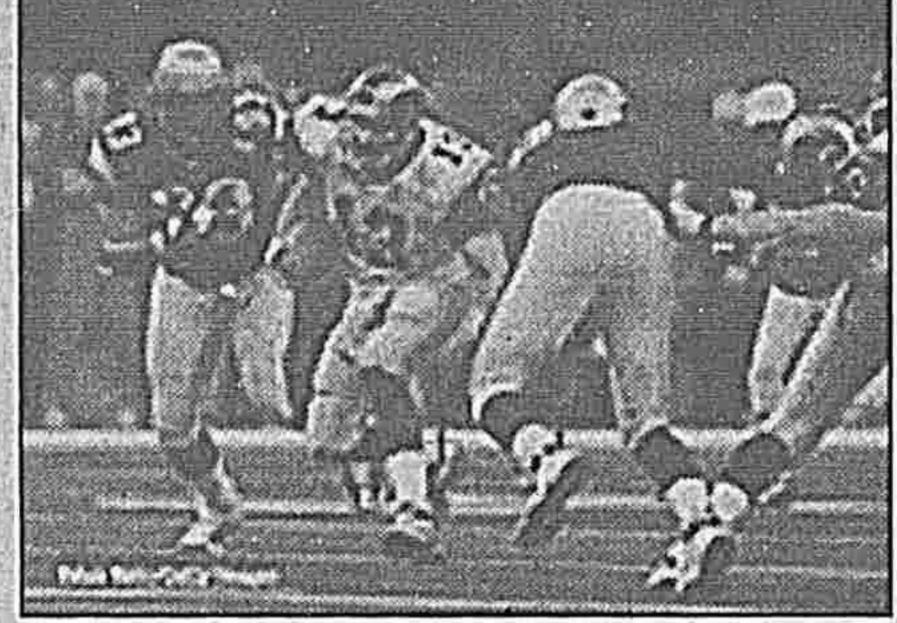

Interviewed by the church's Senior Pastor Bill Hybels, Warner, in an hour, told the audience his life story and his future plans. His wife Brenda was also in attendance.

During most of his career as an athlete, he kept the "God in the trunk" metaphor going. Brenda would later challenge him, and through much effort, God became a bigger part of his life, to the point where he can talk about the promise of God openly.

"My wife and her family were challenging my religious beliefs. I found out that I was wrong. I had thought all I had to do was live my life well and do more good than bad. That 4/as not good enough. Jesus Christ died on the cross to make a difference for us. It is not a part-time thing with God," Warner told the attentive crowd.

Warner and his family survived a tornado that hit Brenda's parents hometown in Arkansas hard, and through some tough times on the gridiron. His first test may have come at an early age, when his parents divorced.

He encourages all to read the Bible, attend church and pray to God, and tell others about Jesus.

"God needs to be at least in the back seat, if not the driver's seat," Brenda Warner said.

Kurt Warner's first answer to life's blows were in sports. He recalled how he then turned to sports.

"My first practice in high school, the coach asked us what positions we wanted to play. No one went over to the quarterback line. He asked me to play quarterback. I was always a wide receiver, making the touchdown catches," he said.

Warner learned, and prospered at his new position. He went on to sign with the University of Northern Iowa in Cedar Falls. But he had to wait there, too, for four seasons, before his chance came to QB.

"I was pretty optimistic my senior year that this was going to be my year. But in the first game, I threw three interceptions and two went for touchdowns. In the second game, I injured my throwing shoulder. I was not willing to give up my spot, and we won the third game and went 7-2 the rest of the way and won the conference," Warner said.

A disappointment came when no calls came from NFL teams on draft day. He was not among the top 200 best players. He almost had a tryout with the Bears, but could'nt due to pending wedding plans with Brenda. He stayed in Green Bay's training camp for a while, but was eventually cut, with the likes of Brett Favre, Mark Brunell and others ahead of him.

There he was, faced with getting a job for the first time. He settled on a $5.50 an hour position at Hyvee grocery store in Cedar Falls, while hoping for a further football chance. He hooked on with the Iowa Barnstormers of the Arena Football league, adjusted to the new style, and made it twice to the championship game. Still, he needed seasoning for the NFL. A chance came as NFL Europe called, and for four months, he worked on his skills in Amsterdam.

He would sign on with the Rams, but only get in 12 snaps his rookie year, 1998. When starting QB Trent Green went down with an injury to start the next year, the rest, as they say, is football bliss for the Warners as he led the Rams all the way to the top.

With his newfound strength, Warner can better handle anything that comes his way.

How To Survive The Job Search By Nancy Sakol

I am currently employed with a law firm in Chicago and have been for the past four years. My job consists of assistance to a legal secretary. I love my position and I am paid a salary and bonus of $40,000. I have great benefits which include profit sharing for which I am fully vested in another year. The people I work with are great and constantly let me know that I am a valued employee. My duties consist of organizing case files, light typing, sorting mail, answering phones and providing support to the attorneys with deliveries to and from the courthouse. I live in Lake County and take the train to work every day. Travel has never been a problem. I enjoy the commute. I am writing to see if there are better opportunities closer to home. My friends tell me that they don't get to see me much because I am always working, or commuting. Sometimes I don't get home until 8:00 in the evening and want to stay in. I would like to pursue any opportunities that would cut a few hours off my work day by working closer to home and still keep my salary.

Who's complaining here? It appears to be your friends and not you. To be honest, based upon what you are telling me in regard to your duties, benefits and salary, I would have to question why you would want to leave such a wonderful place of employment. A company where co-workers treat you well and pay you well . . the salary and benefits are great and you are almost fully vested in your profit sharing. You can look and test the waters if you want, but judging by the way the market is, and it's no secret, I would have to personally advise you to stay where you are. I would also refrain from letting anyone in your company feel that there is even the slightest possibility you may be looking for another job. That too could be quite detrimental to your employment. Fortunately for you, your salary is high, and unfortunately for you, there are thousands out there who would do it for less. Your friends may complain they aren't able to see you much, but true friends would not put pressure on one another to change or jeopardize their career unless there were bonafide reasons to do so. Unless of course your friends are willing to pay you a salary of $40,000 per year, medical benefits and profit sharing. In which case, you can spend all the time with them they THEY need. Think about it.
